Salt grass steakhouse rogers ar

BusinessNews BriefsNorthwest ArkansasRetail Paul Gatling ((email protected)) December 12, 2018 4:13 p.m. 6,153 views Saltgrass Steak House submitted a preliminary development plan for the city's Rogers technical review, indicating his intention to build a restaurant in the Pinnacle Hills area west of Interstate 49. The document was submitted on 7 December. Comments or reviews by the committee are due back to the developer by December 20, and the plan will go before the city's planning committee at a later date. The potential restaurant site, according to the announcement, is along South J.B. Hunt Drive, north of Pauline Whitaker Parkway. The land is owned by a limited liability company controlled by Rogers developer Hunt Ventures, although it is unclear if the item will be land-leased or sold. The venue is across the street from the southern end of the planned Topgolf nightclub, south of the Walmart Arkansas Music Pavilion (AMP). The project is scheduled to enter next spring and open by 2020. Owned by Houston, Texas-based hospitality company Landry's Inc., Saltgrass has two locations in Arkansas Little Rock and North Little Rock, and more than 70 locations in the U.S. A spokesman for the company did not immediately return a message Wednesday seeking comment. the side-of-the-sidewalk pickupdeliverydine-inHours or services may differ due to COVID-19.
