Ncg theater battle creek mi

Opened as a seven-screen theatre on November 17, 1995, it is run by the George Kerasotes GKC Theatre. Purchased by Carmike Cinemas in April 2005. On January 14, 2016, it was sold to NCG Cinemas, who closed it to complete the makeup. After a complete renovation, it reopened on April 29, 2016, making it the chain's 10th Michigan location. NCG Cinemas, formerly known as Neighborhood Cinema Group, offers free refills on popcorn and soft drinks. NCG operates 20 theaters, including 176 theaters, in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina. Its other Michigan theaters are in Alma, Burton, Coldwater, Grand Blanc, Greenville, Lansing, Lapeer, Midland and Owosso. NCG Cinemas is opening the newly renovated NCG Theater at Lakeview Square Mall Friday, April 29. Get ready for movie patrons for a luxurious viewing experience included in ten renovated cinemas, high back seats and luxurious rocker chairs, a new digital projector with Dolby Digital 5.1 audio system and a new lobby with multiple franchise areas! NCG is recruiting! Not. Positions: 1 Showtimes and ticket sales are supported by Went to watch When the game stands high today. We stopped going to the mall to film a few years ago because the cleanliness was poor and the professionalism of the staff was lacking but West Columbia didn't have this movie. When we entered the theater to find a seat, there was no one else there yet. We headed to the back of the theater which is also where the lights are the brightest. The first picture was what I saw that prompted me to pull out my phone and turn on the flashlight. They keep it very fuzzy in the cinema you really can't see what you're sitting in. I was absolutely horrified when I turned on my flashlight! We couldn't find two seats anywhere in the theater that were side-by-side and acceptable to sit in! After the movie started playing with a blank screen and only sound, I went looking for the manager (It took 10 minutes to get it going again). He was a very polite young man and explained that senior management in the company was made aware and nothing seemed to happen. He said the company sends someone out to all cinemas each year to assess its status. The status of the chair is the biggest complaint of the reviewer and still nothing is done. The company seems to think that business is not affected enough to do anything about cleaning the theater. Besides the status seats, there are popcorn and debris on the theater floor as well as toilet paper, urine stains, dust accumulation, etc. in the bathroom. It is obvious to me that offers a cleanliness to pay moviegoers is not a priority for this theater. I did not eat or drink a drop of popcorn and coke we bought after seeing the condition of the theater chair. If this is acceptable, what is acceptable when it comes to cleaning food equipment? I will not return to my family until something is changed! Change!
