(February 2020) (Learn how and when to remove this template message) The original building, formerly known as Ridley Township High School, was completed in 1934 and partially built by the Works Progress Administration. The library, the auditorium and the gymnasium of the old school, which was built at the end of the 1960s, still stand today and are used as a community centre. A new building was built in 2001. The sports teams use the gymnasium of the community centre for indoor training. The school had added a pond for students involved in environmental education and activities. Ridley also has a natatorium. Academic achievements In 2011, Ridley High School was in Corrective Action II nd Year AYP status due to persistently low reading performance among black male students. In 2010, the school was in correction action II due to chronically low literacy and maths performance. [4] The Pennsylvania Department of Education required the school administration to develop and submit a school improvement plan to address low performance. 11th grade reading 2011 - 72% at grade level, (14% below Basic).
