Quick Brand Look Parent Company: Grandma Lucy's Pet Foods was founded in: 1999 Made in: California, USA available in: Chewy, Amazon Foods: Freeze Dried Real Meats in the first 5 ingredients? : Remember the past? : No Behind the Brand In 1999, an older man named Lucy sent her family on a mission. She got pickier and couldn't eat many standard treats and food found in grocery stores. Her owners decided to start making their own treats because they were horrified at the list of ingredients in bargain kibbles and dog handlers. They came up with a few recipes and got so lucky they decided to share recipes with the world. They attended dog shows and fairs, selling out their dishes quickly. In 2007, they released their first line of dog food shortly after a major food recall due to pollution. Their meals are built on the idea that only human-level ingredients with balanced recipes should be in your bowl. Freezing dry meals retains all natural flavors and encourages even the fussy to eat while providing optimal nutrition. The company constantly innovates recipes and researches watches to find out what the best practice is in dog nutrition. The staff carefully inspect each recipe during the production process to ensure everything is of the highest quality to your companion. The foods are small batches and tested in Lucy's kitchen before ever making their way to you. I have a small intestinal disease & have a hard time absorbing & digesting food. He was allergic to many things & some protein as well. I find that he reacts well to this food & can digest it too. I ate & rotated him on raw sources of rabbit, beef, green tripe, white fish (things he could eat without problems). Nwo. I have an additional source of protein & food to add to his limited food selection repository. Gayle, chewy.com negative I've been feeding this according to the instructions on the bag and my two Frenchie's are losing weight fast. I have food for wet dog supplements to get their weight back where it needs to be. The price of this product and the amount it takes to maintain a healthy weight is a bit much. Sophie, chewy.com Grandma Lucy's Artisan is a cereal-free dry dog food that uses a remarkable amount of meats named as the dominant source of animal protein, thus earning a 4.5 star brand. - Dog food advisor Nothing in this world that I love more than Mrs. Lucy's organic biscuits!
