Idaho is the perfect state if you are looking to buy a recreational property. Whether you're looking for a property near the water or in the mountains, we can help you find a place to hang out that's right for you. Properties on Idaho State Water have over 823 square miles of water. The glacial sheets that once covered Idaho during the ice age melted and formed many freshwater lakes perfect for fishing or sailing. Idaho is also home to more than 3,000 miles of rivers that are perfect for those who love a raft of white water. Residents have a lot to enjoy living in these areas. Start your search by looking down at our properties on the water. Sand dune properties If you're an off-road car enthusiast, consider buying a property in St. Anthony, Idaho. St. Anthony's is home to 10,600 acres of white quartz sand that exploded into 400-foot dunes. You can also check out properties in Bernau. Bruneau State Park is best known for its 400-foot-high sand dune. These are great places to buy a house if you like camp and play in the dunes. Mountain Properties If you like to hike, or just want to enjoy the amazing view, take a look at our mountain properties below. Idaho is home to many mountain ranges, including Bora Peak, the highest point in Idaho, and the Rockies in the northeastern part of the state. Such mountains are home to many huts close to a variety of outdoor activities that make properties a must-buy. Snowmobile Properties Idaho is home to over 7,000 miles of snowmobile trails and terrain. 950 of these miles are in Island Park, which is the perfect location for a cabin. Other popular snowmobile areas are in McCall, Teton Valley and Malad. From Ed.
