Dragon Ball Figures All Dragon Ball Figures Naruto Figures All Naruto Figures One piece Figures All One-piece figures Who are anime figures? Anime and manga figures became really fashionable a few years ago. The trend began when western fans began to copy the Japanese tradition of collecting these copies, similar to the most important characters and moments in every manga and anime. Today almost all fans already have one of these figures on their shelves or showcases. They allow them to remember and relive the best moments of the series. Also, affection they feel for their favorite characters. In addition, many people have begun to collect these figurines, which are constantly released in Japan and many other countries and which have become a whole new industry. From 2003-2004, anime figures began to gain great importance, becoming the most important merchandising option in any series, movie or video game. After that, vendors and companies found a great opportunity, creating unique and high quality figurines. As a basis, demand started to increase steadily. To the point that nowadays, we can find epic figures from almost every anime and character. What kind of Anime Figurines are there? There are many types of manga statues. In addition to their material, the figures can usually be differentiated with other characteristics, such as size and details. This way we can find: Figmas It is probably the most popular type of anime numbers. The one we've all seen, and what comes to mind when collectibles. They usually measure about 15cm and are made of PVC. Some of the higher quality is made with resin or polystone. They distinguish between two main categories. Static numbers, most often. And arti-shaped figures that are not collectible and sold as manga toys. Anime Funko Pop Few are the ones who today do not know the figures by the company Funko. They are responsible for transforming our favorite characters from series, movies and video games into collectibles. Anime and Manga industry is one of the most attacking. So we can find a lot of Funko Pop Anime to add to our collection. Almost any series. Everyone loves these figurines characterized by a small body and a huge head. High quality figures It is the type of figure most reserved for collectors. Because they have the highest price. They are manufactured with all kinds of parts and in a larger size than other models. Its quality is really amazing. They are also quite fragile, so they need more care. Anime Figuarts This is a popular line of figures produced by SH Figuarts. Some of them are highly valued and are the main feature that they are formulated, that is, they can move and change positions. It gives a lot to play when it comes to exposing them. In addition, they are quite inexpensive compared to other types. Anime mini-figures Aus known as gashapons, its term in Japanese. These are much smaller numbers. Most are about 10cm. They are much cheaper and less appreciated by collectors. On the other hand, manga performance can also be classified according to their subject. There are all sorts of figures designed for different audiences and fans. In this way we find adult and hot anime figures, more provocative and erotic, or cute figures in a more childish style. You can even find custom anime figures that can be customized by the collector using a variety of accessories. What are the anime figures? These anime toys are made of PVC in most cases. This is because they were introduced to the market several years ago. However, at first many anime statues were made with polystone. However, soon many manufacturers realized that it was very fragile. Many of the manga figures soon broke if they didn't care about perfectly. For this reason, it stopped being used. However, even today you can find pieces made of polystone. This is because it offers a very good finish and the color very well sticks to the material. These are incredible and very fragile manga statues. Ideal for collectors. All this explains the use of pvc nowadays. The material, which is scientifically known as polyvinyl chloride. Unlike the previous one, it is durable and very easy to handle. Therefore, the figures are more durable, although the finish is a little worse. Because if you don't know, it's a material that comes from plastic. In addition it is also possible to find manga figurines made with resin. It is a very pasty and lyle natural substance that is widely used for sculptures and works of art. Therefore, it offers higher quality than PVC. This is why anime resin statues tend to be more expensive. Where to buy Anime Figures As hard to buy these figures, we need to be very careful and be careful where we invest our money. Almost all of them are produced and sold in Japan, its main market. Only a few are imported by collectibles or sold by the producers themselves in the West. For this reason, if you see swept specialized physical stores that sell this type of figures, be careful because it is more likely to be a false replica (from China) rather than the original. As for online purchases, there are several pages to avoid when buying our manga performance and figurines. The first of these is Aliexpress. The Chinese giant is characterized by selling fake figures, very cheap copies. They play with ignorance of people and their extremely low prices to sell their products. The second is on Ebay, where it is also very easy to be fooled and buy a replica rather than an original and authentic figure. What anime figures keep to choose From the other side, in terms of web pages, which we recommend that collect and import Japanese articles stands out. They have high prices, but if they have good ratings, it is almost clear that the products they sell are original and of high quality. On the other hand, Amazon is the best option. This is because they only work with reliable and high-quality companies (in many cases with the manufacturers themselves). Moreover, as a trading giant, we can find an infinite variety of anime figures. All this is accompanied by its warranty, return policy and really fast shipping. For these reasons, in our Anime Figures Store we partner with Amazon so you can find the figure you are looking for and get it with guarantees and with the confidence that it is authentic. How to distinguish a false figure from an authentic one at the beginning, it may seem complicated, distinguishing false figures from the originals is quite simple. After a few simple instructions, you can discover if you have been deceived or not. First, the initial figures (when shopping online) are usually packed in a quality box. This usually indicates that the contents of the package are fragile. When you open the first box, you will find the second. This is the original wrapper figure. They have beautiful designs and highly valued collectors. In it you can see the name of the number, the number to which it belongs in the collection (if any) and its name. There are also several photos of figures from different angles. Finally, it also has a lot of texts on your back, always Japanese. Once a box figure is opened, you will find that it is wrapped in bubble paper. Fully protected. Many of them also give separate weapons or any part that can be particularly fragile (hands, head, etc.). This way you will have to put together. In addition, if you look carefully at the figure, you will check if it is perfectly painted and does not show errors. False figures on the other hand, fake figures are easy to detect. You will notice that the package you receive may be damaged and do not indicate that it is fragile. After opening, the number may not even be in the box. If you have it, it will be a worse quality, fake. When the box is open, you will notice that the figure is not protected by bubble paper, it just comes in a transparent plastic bag. Something like bags, in which electronic products come cables and accessories. Finally, if you look at the details, you will understand that the figurine is not painted perfectly. Best Anime Figures Have you ever wondered what is the most popular and sold? Well here you have the answer: Since there are so many different ways as we have seen before, prices vary greatly. The standard price of a normal figure is usually around $40-50. However, there are cheap anime figures, mostly performance indicators (articulable) and mini-figures. There are also some that are much more expensive, such as anime figures for collectors, or high quality, which include all sorts of details and are of high quality. Quality.
