When we deal with this court, we usually get court dates that are about 2-4 months away. When we receive a court date from them, we receive our offers in advance before we enter the court and we are expected to complete everything at the first hiring or set it up for a trial. This is somewhat negative as it doesn't leave much time to communicate deals with customers, but at the same time we know what the worst-case scenario will be in advance. Detailed information on the expectations and process of processing an arrest warrant for this court can be found here.
