Seller NovelSee my name is Jack Sutton, CEO of Sutton Fashion Magazine, and I had the world at my fingertips. A successful career, a lot of money and beautiful women who have always been in my opinion. My problem? I lived in the shadow of my mother, who founded the company more than 30 years ago. Not to mention that she got married and divorced six times, which left a bad taste in my mouth when it comes to relationships. Women to me were nothing but toys. They had to be played for my personal pleasure, and when I was done playing, they were thrown to the side. Then Lorelei Flynn walked in. She was beautiful and so wrong for me. The problem? She was my personal assistant, and she was closed, to say the least. Despite being the beautiful woman she was under that beauty. It was something I couldn't explain. It was just something Lorelei. My name is Lorelei Flynn, and I Jack
Sutton's fifteenth personal assistant in just over a year. My boyfriend was killed seven years ago in a car accident. Before he died, he gave me a present: my daughter, Hope. My life has only revolved around her. I haven't had sex in seven years. Then Jack Sutton came into my life, and he was as sexy as sin, but he was nothing but a womanizer - and my boss. The line was there the day I took the job, and it was a line that couldn't be crossed. Or it shouldn't be crossed. But it was crossed, and now the only world I had known was suddenly changing, and it scared me to die. Leave a comment Leave
