GreenblattMerriwether Williams Welcome to bucket Chum Gary Takes a Bath is an episode of SpongeBob SquarePants from Season 2. In this episode, SpongeBob tries to get Gary to take a shower. Your Synopsis characters need to get into that tab, Gary. The clock is signaling and SpongeBob knows it's time to shower Gary, but as usual, the snails don't want to take it. SpongeBob, ar careful with the battle he's up for, tries various helah/methods to get Gary into the tab. First, he throws the ball into the bathroom and tells Gary to take it. However, it was the Boomerang Pet Ball, so he came back. Next, he straps the bomb to his own chest and tells Gary that it will explode if he doesn't shower. Gary didn't move and, unfortunately, the bomb wasn't fake. SpongeBob's next strategy is hypnotizing Gary by sending subliminal messages into his brain, but the annoying imejan doesn't help. He tried to call a French restaurant, but he couldn't understand the recipient's loghat. Next, SpongeBob plays leapfrog with Gary and throws him towards the shower tab, but comes loose and solves Gary's cangkerang. He attempts to play leapfrog once again with Gary wrapped up, but receives a hard knock on the head with a cliff. He then tried to get Gary'srasuah to say he was going to give dollars to the next person who showered, but everywhere, Mr. Krabs showed up in a transferable bath tab and s ragut dollars. Dance routines and the hunt for fake treasures that carry into the bath tab (as the most powerful method of sending Gary to the bath) also fail, as does his attempt to physically force Gary. Increasingly disappointed, SpongeBob decides that if he can't take Gary to the water, he just needs to bring water to Gary. SpongeBob loads himself with water and tries to spray it at Gary, who deserves to dodge every punch. Outside, he corners the last one on a tree and climbs up, uploding his bullet to what he considers gary. Yes, yes, Gary, I got behind my ear At first, SpongeBob was afraid of the power of his water jet erupting Gary's skin, but realized he was just spouting a gramophone playing meowing record. The real Gary then steals SpongeBob's ladder, causing him to get caught on top of the subject, saying he The boss. Later, SpongeBob notices Gary sneaking up on the mud pudle. He gave her about three moments to escape the alleged mud pudle. However, SpongeBob SpongeBob fell off the subject into his own mud, causing him to bathe under Gary's supervision instead. Running gajet SpongeBob tries to get Gary to take a shower. SpongeBob uses his family's methods to send Gary to take a shower. Gary talks back to Spongebob. Gary avoids taking a shower. SpongeBob shoots everything with water while trying to target Gary. Gary Takes a Bath has listed #39 during SpongeBob's Top 100 events in the UK and Ireland from 4-8 June 2012. Trivia General Episodes can be found on SEA Stories DVD and VHS, issued on November 5, 2002, eight months before it aired on American television This episode preceded the All That special R U All That?: Nickelodeon's Search for the Kid in America. The episode went on for six minutes and 31 seconds. It's the third episode to walk less than eleven minutes. The first is The Wanting Help, and the second is Blower. The reason that this episode is short is because of the length of the paired episode, Shanghaied. This is the first episode to be aired in South Korea before the United States. In the French dub, SpongeBob calls a Chinese restaurant. In this episode's German dub, the episode is called Die Wanne ist Voll, meaning full Tub. This is a reference to a German song from the 1970s. In the Polish dub, the episod title is Kapiel Gacusia, which translates to Mandi Gary. SpongeBob never managed to get Gary to bathe in an episode, boasting a header. Mr. Krabs' cameo in this episode of Girl's subliminal message. This is the only episode to use only one voice actor, Tom Kenny, but if one thinks Merriwether Williams, who voiced the laughter of subliminal message girls. Tom Kenny voices both SpongeBob and Gary. Mr. Krabs also appeared, but he had no lines. The subliminal message girl's hairstyle resembles Pippi Longstocking's. The fact that Gary hates taking a bath is based on how domestic cats don't like getting wet and Gary is an underwater parody of cats. When SpongeBob calls a French restaurant, it has a purpose: One French dish is escargot, or cooked snail. However, escargots are land snails, not sea snails. SpongeBob just did this to scare Gary into the shower. When SpongeBob calls a French restaurant he tells them he has a snail who won't shower - because they serve escargot, which is snail, in a French restaurant) - to scare Gary into taking one but SpongeBob can't understand their loghat and says it's like that in a different language. It is clear that SpongeBob cannot speak French. This is the first episode in which Gary's cangkerang is solved. This is the first episode using Lonely Heart's Club (a) APM track. This is the second episode in which the record player is used to replace the character. The first is under Pressure. List of ideas that SpongeBob is trying to get Gary to shower: Throw the ball into the shower tab. However, he was the boomerang's favourite ball, so he came back, and so did the box that came in. Strap the bomb to his chest and tell Gary that it will explode if he doesn't shower; The bomb explodes because Gary doesn't shower and SpongeBob doesn't deactivating the bomb. Sent a subliminal message to Gary. Disturbing images of a girl emerged, prompting her to apologise. Calling a French restaurant because France has a popular dish called Escargot, made from snails. He can't understand something the other end says. Playing leapfrog with Gary. He tries to launch Gary into the shower tab, but comes off and makes a break Gary. SpongeBob tries to play leapfrog again, but Gary refuses and hits SpongeBob with a cliff. He groped Gary with a dollar, telling him that the next man to bathe in his house would receive it; Mr. Krabs arrived everywhere in the bath tab and pick it up. Different dances. Fake treasure hunts and paints bath tabs to look like treasure chests. According to the episode's production number (5572-183) it aims to be the second episode of season three after Sailor Mouth. Innuendo: SpongeBob gives Gary doubloons (soap) and tells him not to drop them. Gary's mistake was purple eyes. In one of the frames where Gary first comes in a shot to chase the Boomerang Pet Ball, his eyes are purple. During the transition of the bubble, a blue screen with a date of January 27, 2001 from Rough Draft Korea can be seen. Gary's pink eyelids. For the second spill, Gary's eyelids were seen pink. When SpongeBob removes Gary from behind him, one of the frames has an outline around SpongeBob's incomplete eye. At the scene where Gary runs out of the pet's door, he can be seen from the outside, but when SpongeBob opens the door, the pet's door doesn't exist. The second time SpongeBob asks Gary if he wants to play leapfrog, both fingers of his ring are outlined incorrectly, leaving the finger to appear separate from the hand. When Gary hits SpongeBob in the head with his cane, the sound of him hitting his head actually plays before the cane is shot. The same sound error played too early applies every time SpongeBob kicks the paint allowed in the bathroom. During the SpongeBob dance, the first transition between dance moves is not properly animated and it is only a flash of SpongeBob into a different position. This is unintentional, however, as all other dance step shifts have animations that show SpongeBob moving to the right position. In the still shot map of SpongeBob's treasures, wallpaper is one of the living rooms even though SpongeBob holds it in the kitchen. However, the door in the kitchen is in the right place. This means it's not a living room punch. SpongeBob has painted a tab to make it look like a treasure chest, but then in the next blow he returns to normal. When SpongeBob hands Gary soap and sap ducklings, after he says I don't know what snails want with brooch!, in the next blow they're both gone. When SpongeBob returns to normal after spouting all the water he absorbs in Gary, the bottom of his nasal stripe is colored just like the outline of his body instead of the usual black color. After Gary takes the ladder that SpongeBob uses to climb the tree, a distant view of the tree is shown, and the ladder is seen falling to the ground. However, in faraway view the next point where SpongeBob falls off the subject and into the mud pudle, the stairs no longer exist.
