Outer worlds makes space suits marauder

Edit Share This infobox is missing key data, please help the wiki by filling it in. A synopsis of the edit edited source by 'Byzantium premiere fashion icon, Celeste Jolicoeur, hired you to help her create the final outfit - the perfect marriage chic and shocking. The step-by-step guide 'edit source' The player must return to Celeste wearing the various armor she asks, the player must wear both a headdress and clothing. Three requested armor: Iconoclast, Marauder and 'Spacer'. For iconoclast and marauder outfits, the player can simply equip the pieces with descriptions that start with phrases like the Iconoclast helmet. or Marauder Armor. If the player has completed quests for iconoclasts, they will be rewarded with armor from them; Otherwise, these items can be obtained by searching for the bodies of dead iconoclasts and looters. Spacer, however, is a little more complicated. Although, as with other outfits, the word Spacer should usually appear in the text description; However, Celeste calls Spacer's choice garbage and doesn't want to see it, and items labeled Iconoborc or Marauder will not be considered Spacer's equipment. The easiest option is to equip a pair of Brooks and Olson glasses purchased or found on The Groundbreaker, and Ports Challenge gear labeled Streetwear or Wear Day, which can be purchased or found on The Groundbreaker. If a player hires Ellie or Felix as a companion by equipping them with another piece of clothing and then equipping the player with original clothing, he will also be considered a Spacer garment for Celeste's purposes. After completing this section of the quest, Celeste will challenge the player with the tracking of Primal Skin, Raptidon flank hide and Mantikin chitin. The last two of these items can be bought at Sebastian Adam's store. The primary skin can be purchased quite easily either in the Emerald Valley (Primary Nest) or on Scylla. Manticins and Rhpstidons are plentiful on the monarch, although both are quite difficult to kill, especially in tutus. Once the player has the necessary animal skins, they can return to Celeste in Byzantia. After getting there, Celeste will thank the player and take the skins, she will then mention the name of the new outfit, Chimaera, and say how she requires a golden lapel, which is held in HPS and requires a signature, the player must get it. In an interview with postal workers at HPS, it shows that the parcel is delivered to the estate. A header in this estate player discovers that the delivery was unsuccessful and that it has been returned to HPS. In addition, a lock on the back room in the HPS building can be selected and parcels taking off the shelf without talking to any of the workers. Going back to HPS the player will be told that they have to switch the windows millionth time. and if they comply with this outrageous request, they will get Lapel. Then, returning to Miss Jolikauer, the player finds her dead, in the middle of her shop. The corporate commander will instruct the player to retreat. The click further shows that what Chimaera was supposed to look like is not actually legal in Byzanti. Thus, being caught red-handed with clothes in her possession, the attempt to arrest her was made by a corporate trooper, but unfortunately for her, she did not want to cooperate, and the guards did not want to negotiate, so they shot her. The player has the ability to charge the paratrooper with murder and assault, but it is understandably a bad idea that this man is a high-ranking member of the byzanti police. Another option is to just call them insane, in which case they say the motto is UDL, and leave. By plundering Celeste's body, the player gets her key. at which point they can enter her office and take Chimaera from her desk. This completes the quest. Back at the store later, her body went missing. Armor Combinations (edited editing source) Note: Patch 1.4.1 is necessary for Celeste to recognize the DLC marauder's armor as a valid marauding clothing. Trivia (edited by source of editing) The title of the quest is a reference to Robert A. Heinlein's 1958 novel Have a Space Suit-Will Travel, which in itself is a reference to Have a Gun - Will Travel, an American Western series produced by CBS television and radio from 1957 to 1963. Year. Trek creator Gene Roddenberry wrote twenty-four episodes of the show. Community content is available under CC-BY-SA unless otherwise stated. Making space suits, will not travel is one of the tasks in the space world. Tasks are additional quests that players can choose to receive special awards, XP or reputation. Byzantium premiere fashion icon, Celeste Jolicoeur, has hired you to help her create the ultimate outfit, the perfect marriage chic and shocking. Makes space suits, won't travel Targets makes space suits, won't travel a step-by-step guide to talk to Celeste Jolicoeur in The Prosperity Plaza Byzantium and agree to help her get this quest. Purchase Iconoclast armor and headpiece, Marauder Armor and headgear and Spacer Armor and headgear and wash them off for her. When searching for these armor look in the description of the armor as it will tell you what type it is. You can find the description below Mod Armor Slots. Note: Items that say Astronaut Choice will not work for this quest. Example outfits: After modeling these for her, she will ask you to collect some materials. The primary skin can be purchased at Primal Nest in the Emerald Valley or purchased from Stefan Garcia at the Botanical Laboratory. If you still need more, go to Scylla. Raptidon Flank Hide and Mantikin Chitin can be found on the monarch. You can also purchase these two items from Sebastian Adams in Star Bay. When you return these materials to you, you get 2,312 XP. You will then be instructed to get a lapel from HPS. You will receive the Scripture of Consent, which entitles you to receive the subject. Go there and talk to Olive Yates. She will tell you to go to the B window. Head to the Estates District navigation mark and read a note left on the door to find out that the package is now back at HPS, you'll get the HPS Delivery Unsuccessful quest. Talk to Wanda Chen again and she will tell you to head out the A. Then go back to Celeste. Alternatively, you can lockpick your way into the vault behind the HPS and pick up Celeste's Parcel from the counter. You will find the command of the Guard over her corpse in her shop. You will find out that she was executed by the guards for making illegal clothes. It will net you another 2312 XP. Loot her corpse to get Celeste's key. Inside her office you'll find Chimaera, a unique armor and quest complete giving you another 10,300 XP. Location: Terra 2 - Byzantium How to Start: Talk to Celeste Jolicoeur Visit Jolicoeur's Jolicoeur's in Byzantium and talk to the owner, Celeste Jolicoeur, and after she gets done ogling you she will offer to make an outfit worthy of you ... If you can find the right materials. 12 (1 out of 2) You can examine the armor you may have to find what set it belongs in its descriptive text. You can examine the armor you may have to find what set it belongs to in its descriptive text. (left), wearing Celeste's sets is interested in calming her down. (right) Costumes Halcyon e First Up, she wants you to model some outfits for her. Three outfits, in fact, including clothing and headwear - these outfits include a Marauder set, a Spacer set and an Iconoclast set. How do you know which armor is included in what set? Well, the description of each costume should give you the key, and the key we mean is it's usually to say straight. In any case, below you will find a table of all the different suits of armor and helmets that make up parts of the sets of clothing. Marauder (chest) Marauder (head) Spacer (chest) Cosmonaut (head) Iconoclast (chest) Iconoclast (head) Cobbled Exo-Suit Marauder Survival Helmet Day Wear, Option 1 Attached Padded Helm Anti-Riot Gear Full Crane Helmet Improved Low Pressure Suit Capital Helmet Day Wear, Option 2 Mark 7 Cranial Protector Dur-A-Bull Guard Heavy Score Mask Marauder Survivalist Armor Patch Low Pressure Helmet Leather Gear, Business Random Opti-Goggles Heavy Construction Gear Iconoclast Apostle Force Restored Exo-Helmet Streetwear, Basic SubLight Contractor Helm Leaded Armor Vented Mark 3 Helmet Streetwear, Fancy Vac Helm Water Resistant Wear, Casual Work Gear, Farm-Friendly Work Vest, Style 7 Marauder Gear can be found on looters, of course, and there's no reason why you can't run around the Emerald Valley and pick up any looters who may be respawned if that's not enough. You will find both unique armor in the marauding camp south of the Terra One Publications building. Spacer gear is even easier to purchase - you can probably buy some piece of chest and headgear or another from Armory Ick at Groundbreaker or from Bronson's Amber Heights (Monarch). Ellie and Felix's clothing is also considered a Spacer outfit by default. Iconoclast armor can be found regularly when exploring the monarch, but Bronson (Monarch - Amber Heights) usually sells the odd piece of iconoclast armor. You can also get the Iconoclast Apostle helmet and the Iconoclast's Apostle Armor by completing the Iconoclast The Commuter and Pay for the Printer quests. Note: If you need to force enemy respawns or store top-up sleep in unreliable for a few days. 1234 (1 out of 4) After you have shown all three sets, Celeste will give you a list of beast bits to collect. If you have six different pieces of armor set (one piece of clothing and one piece of head paper from each set) go back to Haberdashery Jolicoeur at Byzantium, put a matching set of clothes on the main character and talk to Celeste. Repeat the process for each set and she will work on the design of her masterpiece - Barbarian-chic. Unfortunately, she will need genuine bits from some of Halcyon's most dangerous beasts, including ten units of Primal skin, three Raptidon Flank hides and some Mantikin Chitin. Suffice it to say that this will include some running around. And in case you're wondering, no, none of these components will appear before you're at this point in this search. Suffice it to say that if you unlock this part of the quest before you travel to Monarch, you will almost certainly have it mostly accomplished just by completing a quest there. It's also worth noting that you can show your displeasure with the challenge by passing the Intimidate 40 test, which will force Celeste to give you 375 bits. Better than nothing. By creating Chimaera to get your custom Jolicoeur outfit you now need to bypass Halcyon by killing wild animals and collecting the parts that Jolicoeur needs. Again, they include ten units of primal skin, three Raptidon flank hides and some Mantikin Chitin. You can find them in the following places: Primal Leather has a chance to fall out of Primals, and the quest itself invites you to hunt them in the Emerald Valley. There's no good reason not to, as these are the weakest primals you'll come through, although if you want more challenge for some reason you can go hunt them on Scylla, too. Raptidon Flank Hides can be cleared of raptidons, and while the quest tells you to hunt them for the monarch, you can just as easily opt for the weak raptidons on the Roseway. The only place where you will find the Mantiqueens are on the monarch, especially on the way to the peak of the devil, so you need to head to the monarch to collect the Mantikin Chitin that Jolicoeur needs. If you have all the pieces listed above, go back to Haberdashery Jolicoeur at Byzantium and submit the pieces to it. She will duplicate the outfit she plans to create Chimaera. It's just missing a little flair that she'll ask you to choose from the Halcyon Parcel Service (HPS) building. At least it's a simple errand this time. She will give you her Letter of Consent, after which you need to head northwest of Prosperity Plaza to find the HPS building on the left (southwest). 123 (1 out of 3) After some detour in the HPS building, you will be sent to intercept the delivery of the Parcel Picking package Once inside, with the left of the cashier herself - Olive Yates - and tell her you're here for a Jolicoeur package... only to be mentioned in the window B. Sigh. Sigh. to the middle window and talk to Wanda Chen, who gives you an attitude before telling you the parcel is for delivery. Leave the HPS building and continue down the street to the northwest, then turn southwest at the intersection, head up the stairs, across the bridge, and when you reach the four-way intersection in the Estates area search for the corner house to find a note telling you that the delivery was unsuccessful and that the parcel is back in the HPS building. Reminds me of trying to get my Xbox 360 replacement from FedEx... Go back to the HPS building and talk to the lady outside the middle window again and try to get the parcel again, only to be transferred back to the A. Sigh window. Back in the left window again and this time you'll be met with success - either pass the Persuasion 40 test or show Scripture consent and you'll be good to go. No, seriously. Take it and run. 12 (1 out of 2) Grab Celeste's Key from her body Make her way back to Haberdashery Jolicoeur only to find out that she fell counter to the corporate jackboots that fulfilled her for practicing subversive aesthetics. It's some hardcore corporate fascism. After the guards leave, rob Celeste to get Celeste's key, then head to her office to the south and look for her desk to find Chimaera, a fancy dress that has a large amount of armor and gives a bonus of 10 pounds for your dialogue skills. One of the best costumes in the game for the main character who likes to talk them out of trouble as well as being able to survive the battle if they decide to cause problems. Note: If you wear Chimaera along with a Nice Hat you will get a trophy/achievement well dressed. You can find the Nice Hat in the church in the ruins south of Star Bay at Monarch. Note: In case you are wondering, Celeste Jolicoeur will be replaced by Malini Gupta, so Jolicoeur in Haberdashery will remain in business. Business.
