The amount of time we spend in our cars has also increased. With an average commute of 20 minutes to 45 minutes (depending on where you live), that time soon adds up to nearly 200 hours - or nine days - a year. Of course, spending so much time in a small space can have consequences, but it also means that now, more than ever, we are looking for the best ways to make our time in the car more comfortable than ever. Take a modest cup holder. It may seem like a simple addition to an otherwise reasonable car, but spend enough time without a cup holder and suddenly you find yourself moaning about the lack of one. Fortunately, the almost infamous lack of cup holders in European cars may not deter you from impressive product engineering. You can purchase the right cup holder for your needs without worrying about the layout of your car. Below we discuss the best selections of car cup holders on the market. The best car cup holder A simple but effective universal cup holder, this device can turn a standard car cup holder into a giant that will happily suit the needs of any travel mug. Being able to hold up to 40-ounce mugs (including YETI options) safely and without much fuss, this is a great option for those in the daily commute. There are two ways to expand this option, while you can change the depth of the cup holder to suit the needs of your cups, mugs or bottles, and you can expand the width for better stability. It also comes with soft sleeves, so you can be sure that your car will remain undamaged by scratches during assembly or on rocky roads. Simple and inexpensive accessory for every commuter Great cut with any bottles and mugs Side hole for handles Without added storage Suitable for only one user/drinker Another great option in a portable cup holder, this unit works in a similar way to our top pick with a few minor modifications and slightly higher price. With a simple turn of the top half, you can expand the base of your new beverage holder to safely match any standard car cup holder. Ranging from 2.5 to 3.75 inches in diameter, check the size of your current choice before purchasing this product. The central unit can handle bottles, cups and mugs up to 3.4 inches in diameter, but double-check if your travel mug fits. Anything smaller than this will be safely held by adding rubber loops around the head of the cup holder. It uses a simple twisting motion to extend or reasent the base to fit any car very robust option that uses additional rubber tongues to increase stability Can have a very high depending on the bottle or cup used The shorter depth may be in some cars (check the measurements to make sure it doesn't loosen) It's only suitable for one user/drinker The combination of console storage capabilities with base extension adaptability, this Mini Console from Go Gear is all you might need in a car cup holder. The top half can handle standard go-to items in the car, such as a phone, replacement or glasses, while the bottom half has two, adjustable cup holders. There is a wide variety of sizes, so you can be sure that almost every mug or beverage cup will fit without problems. The only real problem is that you have to place this console on the seat or floor, which can cause you to reach for drinks a little awkwardly - especially in a full car. And although it is generally very stable, it is not ideal to have a free console in the car. A robust option that works well for any car Beverage holders are adjustable, so it fits most cup and bottle sizes Offer complete organization for your car Not ideal for busy households because there may not be enough space to place the console down If you prefer to have a mounted beverage holder in the car, then you can't go wrong with this choice from Camco. While mounting options can cause damage to your car, it may be worth more comfort, depending on how you prefer to drive. If you don't want to use the screws, this option includes double-sided tape - although the strength of the beverage holder using only tape is negligible. This adjustable beverage holder can handle surprisingly high weight and can be adjusted to meet almost any cup width. Users note that they had some great experiences that surprised them, even with their biggest bottles. It also folds neatly when not in use, making it perfect for those who wanted to keep their car extra clean. Adjustable handles allow almost any cup size Surprisingly strong with great grip both on the mount and on the cup Very affordable option Using screws will damage your car Tapes may not be strong enough for heavier drinks With extra high sides to ensure complete stability for your bottle or cups, this cup holder works great for water bottles or morning drink on the way to work. The 1-inch slot is perfect for those cups with handles such as the standard travel mug, while the sides reach an additional 3 inches. Meanwhile, the tapered base works at 2.6 to 3.4 inches to make a comfortable fit in the equipped car cup holder. The upper diameter reaches 3.9 inches across, making it wider than some of our options. However, due to the added height, it is not as stable as some of the higher options on our list, with some users getting the message out that sharp turns can throw off the center of balance for this option. Uses highly durable plastic for greater durability High sides mean there is less that you come across slips and stains Very affordable and highly rated rated The base can be a little loose for some cars another option with an expandable base, this option ranges from 2.5 to 3.75 inches in diameter on the base to fit each car cup holder. Simply turn the top half to expand or slide the base so that it fits into any size that best suits. Meanwhile, the top diameter can hit a massive 3.8 inches and hold up to 40oz bottles and cups, along with a hole down on one side to handle mugs and cups with handles. It is regularly highly rated by those with longer, coarser drives who note that this option from Seven Sparta works great in maintaining a stable, firm grip even on the road. The high sides help further, providing a great base for your drinks during tried and tested trips. Not to mention the exceptional customer service who have worked on providing this new edition of their favorite car cup holder. Safe choice that is perfect for longer, rougher drives Fantastic customer service that has dealt with previous issues well Can occasionally slip away with a drink Another choice that would have to be placed on the floor or free space, this console cup holder is made in the US and can hold everything you might think. Being made of durable plastic reses, it is a slightly harder option and comes with a higher price tag, but is likely to be more stable on the floor. The two cup holders have a static size, no room for manoeuvre for larger cups, so don't expect anything amazing here. However, the organizer that is connected has some nice features, in that it can handle all items large or small, from tablet to pen. All this thanks to the extra depth this console has to make it ideal for those who want a decent organizer over a decent cup holder. It can accommodate a lot of items, making it ideal for longer rides Fits in any car It can be too bulky for some users needs to be kept on the seat or floor Our first-hand handheld console organizer and cup holder is from IOKONE and has proven to be very popular with buyers. Available at a great price, this option is made of durable plastic with leather upper, which is one of the best looking options for use in the car. There are two cup holders and can be used in most standard travel mugs and cups. The only real problem is that there is no assembly, and therefore this item can get in the way a little bit - especially if it is used on the driver's side. That said, it's a good looking addition to any car and there's some extra space as an organizer, so all-in-all is a fairly decent choice. Practical organizer that works well in most cars Very easy to clean with a damp microfiber cloth Not ideal for mugs or drinks with handle No extension for wider spaces Short but sweet choice for those who want to place their drinks anywhere in the car. While it may seem a little strange, reviews realize that this little cup of car cars it is good to stick where it is located. Even better, the wider base works well to maintain stability while driving and the addition of springs allows for better grip on the mug or cups. This is a fantastically affordable option that can be easily picked up and placed elsewhere without any fuss - perfect for hiding in the glove compartment when not in use, for example, or moving from car to car. In fact, many users will have this cup holder for other purposes, for example, to prevent their drinks from being knocked down by their cats. Very safe grip for drinks Very easy to use without the need for complex installations Low edges are not very effective at holding their centre of gravity Spring-loaded grip can be quite hard to remove drinks from surprisingly robust for what is essentially a stick-on cup holder, this item from ZoneTech works by holding on to your windows and can be placed anywhere in the car where there is a suitable surface nearby. Cheap and cheerful, this is a great option if you want to free up some console space in the car or just need a cup holder in the back seat for kids. Despite its simple design, it has a decent weight, with customers noting that drinks up to 24 ounces are comfortably held by this option. The only real drawback of this particular option is that it looks a bit clunky and can get in the way if you are looking to open and close windows regularly Adjustable hand ensures that your beverage holder will never get in the way It can be placed anywhere in the car Holds the weight very well Not too aesthetically you will need a little maintenance as it can become too loose or close over time Another simple option that uses extra sleeve to accommodate your car, this option from Smart Flask is a basic cup holder adapter that works for a smaller range of sizes but does a great job with those holders that match the dimensions. Fortunately, if this does not suit your car, there is also the possibility of a money back guarantee provided by the seller, although the ranges of expansion dimensions should ensure that this option is bought only by those who are suitable. With a deep upper half and a wider diameter of up to 3 7/8 inches, this beverage holder is likely to meet your needs without too much fuss, and the foam case can be adjusted to suit multiple types of beverage holders. All-in-all, if this cup fits your car, then you won't run into any problems and will be able to hold up to 40 oz bottles of cups in the car with pleasure. Extra deep to avoid spills It comes with a money back guarantee It helps maintain the ideal temperature of your drink It doesn't work with all cup and bottle sizes It can stand a bit high in the centre console If you have a deeper cup holder but you don't have the width you need for your drinks or you just want more organisational space then this is the choice for you. This cantileer cup holder from working works for commuters as it covers everything you might need - with lining the eyeglass space up to an extra wide cup holder, this is a great choice for everyday drivers. This item is in the dishwasher for very easy cleaning, but you will need to check the dimensions of your car's centre console before buying to ensure a good fit. It also comes at a great price, so you don't have to pay extortionate sums for a luxury cup holder. Creates enough extra space around your car driver Dishwasher safe for very easy cleaning Simple to use and very safe Check dimensions before buying to ensure that the console fits into your car holder will need enough space around the centre console to fit this simple and inexpensive, this window cup holder is great if you are looking for something to do for a disposable , long-distance trip. Simply slide the hook into the gap between the door and the window and you'll have a high-capacity cup holder that's out of the way and easy to use. Of course, things are never that simple and there are a few negatives here, in that you won't be able to use your window while it's up and running without the cup holder popping out and needing to be replaced. It also requires enough space for the cup holder itself to be placed between the gap, as many newer cars won't have much space here. Super easy to install and use Made of durable plastic for easy holding of very large drinks You won't be able to lift the window when using this It can be a bit difficult to introduce for many newer cars A great option if you find you need a slim organizer who can hide your valuables if needed. This option from KMMOTORS has been designed to slip into the gap between the seat and the center console and works with a magnetic flip-up lid to keep objects sensitive to heat from sunlight – or simply hide their changes. There are two pads included with this purchase, so if you think your gap could be a little wider, it might be worth trying this item out through our earlier side pocket option. Meanwhile, this option was also made of plywood along the central design, so ensure a stronger fit and great durability. Compatible with most parking spaces It works as a cup holder and storage Can stick a little far and get in the way of some drivers It's not a visually appealing option Available as a complete car cup holder holder, this item can handle anything and everything you have to throw at it or might be needed on your way. Although not ideal for commuters as the bag is used over the headrest and therefore only available for those in the back seat, it is a fantastic choice for family cars and long rides. The dishwasher is safe and therefore very easy to clean, this organizer consists of two cup holders, a folding tray and Storage. Strap Strap Completely adjustable to match the length you require (lower for children who may want to use the tray as an activity table, higher to stay out of reach) and the bottom even includes hooks for garbage bags or coats. Works great for holding everything you need for your trip Can be easily stored under a chair when not used Only really good for passengers because the holder is based behind the headrest Can kill a lot of space The size of the cup holder will make a huge difference in how it fits into your car. Too small, and it will not hold everything you need. Too big and will just get in the way and be too clumsy to drive with, comfortably. It also depends on how much you can fit in the car. Most of them will use capacity as a means to show how much will fit in their cup holders, although many will go into greater detail and give you specific dimensions. If possible, go with the other, because each cup holder in the car is different and can even prevent you from being able to buy one option over, completely. The material is important for two main reasons. The first is that you will no doubt want a decent cup holder that allows you to enjoy your new car without feeling like an ugly fabrication in your peripheral vision all the time. The second is that the material can increase the stability and comfort of your subject. This is a big plus because rubber armrests and plastic options are less likely to cause spills – and if they do, they are super easy to clean. While there aren't many features to be had on the standard cup holder for your car, there are a few nice ones to have that can be added. For example, many of our standalone adaptable beverage holders have expanding bases that allow for stronger grip and thus greater stability. Meanwhile, there are plenty of options that add extra organizers or compartments to help you make the cup holder even more useful. We comfortably think of how easy your item is to fit and remove, and how well to clean it up. Separately, one cup holders can usually be brought from car to car, without much fuss, while equipped options can end up damaging your car due to the requirement that they be bolted to the dashboard. You should also be aware that your beverage holder is likely to get dirty over time. Like the rest of your car, it will pick up dust and dirt during use – but it will also be catching stains from your drinks. So having the ability to quickly and easily clean the cup holder is a huge benefit. Some of the above options are great for this as they are dishwashers. Others may require a little more work in that they require wiping with a microfiber cloth. However, we have tried to provide you with the best car cup holder options that are also super convenient to use. Advantages of car cup holders to say that a properly equipped car drink holder will be much more suitable for ensuring a safe place for the placement of hot drinks. In doing so, you are then able to concentrate on the road and are therefore less likely to get into an accident. They also provide additional stability, as opposed to the thinner, shallower car holder holder options that come with the car. This in turn means that your drinks are less likely to spill and cause distractions, or get caught under the pedals of your car. Many of the above options not only provide additional space for your drinks, but also consists of an organizer who can help create a suitable space for all the items you might need to have nearby in your car. This can include something as simple as space for your glasses, or even consist of a tablet holder that you can use to work once to work, for example. A better fit for your car cup holder means no stains from your drinks and therefore less need to constantly clean up the uncomfortable spaces in your car. If you have an accidental slip or find that your beverage holder is getting dirtier over time, these beverage holders come with the added benefit of being easily removed - and therefore make cleaning much easier and faster (especially if your chosen item is also in the dishwasher). Different types of cardholders While many of the above options will be adaptable in some form or another, we are actually referring to individual beverage holders with an extension or adaptable base, here. These are ideal for commuters as they are able to hold up to one drink at a time - but not great for larger groups or households as you would have to buy multiples. However, they are one of the most versatile options because they can be easily changed to meet the needs of yourself and your car. They come with retractable or adjustable base options, are robust and reliable, as well as are easy to place and remove without damaging your car. You will need a cup holder as part of the original design of your car to use one of them. This is a separate option, but usually it is possible to slide between parts of your car, such as legroom or next to the central console of your car, they are much larger, but they have more space. Ideal for larger households, or those who simply want extra storage space for their organizers, phones and so on, will usually come with two, larger cup holders. Some of them are completely freestanding and will have to be placed on the floor of your car, or on a spare seat that can make them a little less stable. This means that because they are usually wider and more robust, they still provide a good option with little risk of spilling or slipping. Others can be used as side pockets and are located next to the seat. These are usually a little slimmer, but longer and you will ensure that you are satisfied with this add-on as they can a little space from the seat. However, they provide great, easily accessible space for all your driving items or simply keep other changes for your parking clock. Not as popular as the two main options above, these beverage holders will need to be attached to your car using glue or screws. This will damage the dashboard, however, for older cars and those who do not want to maintain their car value, this is little disturbing, and the advantage of a strong cup holder can outweigh this. They are usually very strong and can have more capacity in drinks and many will be retractable or folded to make less space when not in use. Keep in mind that it would be unwise to continue moving this beverage holder after assembly, so choose the space wisely to make sure it doesn't get in your way while driving. The least popular option, but very cheap and handy to have for occasional use, hanging cup holders use a small hook to latch on to the door of your car. While it can get in the driver's way, they are a great choice for passengers as they can often hold large weight or drinking capacity and should not do any damage to your vehicle. Our Top Pick We love bottlepro's beverage holder adapter because it provides an affordable and easy-to-use option that adapts your current beverage holder to universal forging. This option is able to handle almost any bottle, cup or mug with extension base and safe assembly, along with a cut out hole for all handles. There is also the bonus of excellent customer service which many reviewers note was excellent. All-in-all, this is a fantastic choice for everyday commuters who are tired of inadequate cup holders. Instead, we recommend this cup holder from BottlePro to fix all your travel drinking woes. Sources: Add ratings
