Best MHW Portable Ice Hammer So Far: Victory Loader II – Kolo Tree Arms – 1352 Damage 25% AffinityMammoth Hoff II – Banbaro Tree Arms – 1456 Damage 0% Near calm - Final Boss Weapon Tree – 1456 Damage Victor Northlin – Velkhana Weapon Tree – 1404 Damage Below is in the breaking depth of the current best hammers at MHW Iceborne! MHW Iceborne – The best hammers to date are a detailed guide to the MHW hammer regarding ice-borne expansion. I've been playing with the Hammer since the release of Iceborne on September 6, and I'm happy to inform you that this is one of the best weapon to play in the Expansion Of Iceborne MHW. It will cover basic Hammer Moveset (including the new step of MHW Iceborne) as well as advance combo and best tips for becoming a bro hammer! Feature - Monster Hunter World Ice Portable MHW Overview of The Hammer [Iceborne version] Hammer is one of the weapons in the arsenal since the very first release of Monster Hunter. It means that it has appeared since 200 and the MHW hammer is known for its ability to stun monsters. The weapon completely does not have the ability to cut the monster's tail but is compensated by the overwhelming power to give the monster some spinning stars. MHW Hammer Basic Hammer Combo doesn't have any fancy combo that requires you to morp your weapon or anything. Most moveset are pretty straight forward starting with side bash and slam. Finish with a huge swing – often called golf swing by veteran Hammer players. The final blow is the strongest blow of this combo. I knocked Banbaro with a golf swing and quickly followed up by the Big Bang narrative. This is one of the most efficient moves for MHW Hammer. Stand your ground and just smash! This narrative will continue only if the previous hits the ground on the target. The subsequent strike will deal with higher damage than its predecessor, leading to the final finish at the end. Hunting is to maintain the pressure after hitting the previous ground to perform successive blows. If the first strike doesn't land, it's a terminal for a brief time because of the recovery window. This attack is used when the monster is paralyzed or already surprised by hammer charge attacks similar to the Great Sword, the main source of damage from the hammer comes from a powerful shipping attack. However, you don't need time to release on time to get the most damage. The only thing to notice when charging the hammer is that moves to unleash you. You can press R2/RT at any time to start shipping. This charge reaches 3 level (indicate a red flash and a slight vibration on the controller for each charge) when releasing R2, depends on the charge level, you can then unleash a different attack. Charging side bash (swing swing) (Level 2) >>release while moving this will result in quick shoulder charging up swing - which can be used as a quick hit on This head is definitely the best option when you want to land at the speed of an amazing blow to the monster! But be sure to release r2/RT in time! Because this may lead to the spinning attack below, it can leave you wide open for a monster attack! (Level 3) > Release while moving at the last shipping level 3. If you release R2/RT on the go, the hunter will perform a spinning hammer attack. Each dea attack moderate damage and lightning power. In each spin, you can string in a normal combo by pressing after the spin. These spinning attacks may seem fun to perform, it is not the most efficient attack for the MHW hammer. This is a beautiful situation and should not be used as a major way to shock the beast! + Combining R2 with O/B you can perform a power charge. This add more damage to your charge attack, as well as thunderbolt power, and the hunter will also be immune to flopping during the charge, giving you more chances on landing that strong charge attack. Using charge power will drain your stamina more quickly, but this is definitely the way to go if you want to quickly taser the monsters of Hammer Iceburn new moves with Iceborne, Hammer gains many new moves related to claw clutch, the latest city in the arsenal. You can now perform Slinger Shot while charging with R2/RT. This looks innocent at first, but can be used as a quick and dirty way to build a thunderbolt meter. The second capability is to attack the claw link. After a successful charge attack, (level 2 or 3) you can perform a clutch-moving clutch by pressing the L2 right afterwards. Depending on your charge level, it can lead to a spinning hammer attack or a simple clutch shot clutch level charge 2 >claw clutch hammer fire – a simple claw clutch wrestled with a single blow of the hammer. Charge level 3 >claw clutch spinning hammer fire – you wrestle on the monster while spinning your hammer! MHW pre-hammer combo as Hammer can't cut tails being an explicit weapon. Amazing monster become your main priority. To do this, you should carefully aim all of your attacks to maximize the chance that they are landed on top of those monsters below is an example of using a shipping attack correctly to stun the beast / One of the most common mistake is not knowing which charge attack to use when you hold on to R2/RT. Dependon sits on your current situation, you must land that quick shoulder up swing or simply stand still and perform crushinstead. (Level 3) >>Release while still standing if the monster is not moving, you should aim for the move. Instead of spinning yourself into oblivion, stand your ground and perform a level 3 charge attack. This attack has a very high lightning force and can also break part of the monster easily. Here, I land level 3 power charge hammer attack and demolition of poor Banbaro. After successfully stunning and hit the monster down. Simply go close to the monster head and unlock your Narrative. Stand your ground and just smash! This narrative will continue only if the previous hits the ground on the target. Otherwise, you will suffer from a recovery framework! Will your main playstyle when using the hammer be such attacks aimed at the head of the beast > is the monster stunned? Unless the Big Bang Combo but not yet, you have a new step! With Iceborne released, you can now shoot off Slinger Burst during your charge move. This may not seem like much at first, but if you're confident, this can be used as a quick way to build a taser meter! The next combo you must perform is a spinning clutch attack. After a successful charge attack, (level 2 or 3) you can perform a clutch-moving clutch by pressing the L2 right afterwards. Depending on your charge level, it can lead to a spinning hammer attack or a simple clutch shot clutch level charge 2 >claw clutch hammer fire – a simple claw clutch wrestled with a single blow of the hammer. Charge level 3 >claw clutch spinning hammer fire – you wrestle on the monster while spinning your hammer! This allows you to quickly use the clutch clutch on the monster and weakens the monster part in the process. When landing, you should aim for the weak part of the free damage enhances! MHW Hammer builds (updated with Iceborne shields) with the release of Iceborne, you will now have more options to finally build a powerful hammer. This includes the newly extended roof of the Slager armor skills of the Diablos group, as well as many new options for weapons. Previously, meta builds for the hammer will look like this: build a hammer meta in mhw with diablos upgrade skill set, you can now get up to level Slugger 5! If you prefer to further enhance your amazing energy, I recommend using the Diablos Range with Level 5 Spyger as a test of amazing power! As for weapons options, you can quickly start off the master rank with the Kolo Weapon Tree, as in the Victory Shop I give you 1092 impressive damage with approximately 25%. This monster is also very easy to hunt. The upgraded version of this hammer – The Second Victory Loader gives you 1352 damage with the same approximately 25%. Combine this with Elementless and you've already got to build a high-damage hammer! If you prefer maximum damage and don't mind the convergence, you can choose a hammer such as mallet grinding. Grind Hammer - Glavenus acid hammer with 1508 damage skills rest armor depends entirely on your playstyle. But the best option is always to maximize convergence and damage. With the addition of a collection as Glavenus Bonus Shield (it may be maximum secrecy), you can now achieve it with minimal effort. Below is a fast mid-build master rank that you used while playing hammer. Just building a sample on the Master Rank Ring is one of the easiest weapons to pick up thanks to it's powerful attack damage and straight forward style play. If you want to change the pace after the weapons Sword and shield and looking for a meaty weapon, why not choose the MHW hammer? Let us know the current hammer build for MHW Iceborne! MHW Weapons Guide list below are weapons guides previously published before - Iceborne. Every guide will soon be updated with the new gears of Iceborne MHW, stay tuned! Fatalis will update the Iceborne MHW after one year of support from Capcom. Before that, let go of the meta review and make sure you equip yourself with the best magic and weapons available! This is the latest guide to hammer builds (Alatreon Frostfang Bariuth Meta, also known as 14.0 Dead) MHW Iceborne Hammer Guide was my second favorite weapon after sword and shield. Although it's a slow-speed attack, I found the Hammer is one of the easiest weapons to play in the MHW. As the main hammer, your job is always to stay in the monster's head and make sure each hit increases the thunderbolt meters of this monster. While larger monsters can usually be 2 or 3 times per hunt, other monsters can be astounded up to 5 times. Despite this, most metadata builds a focus only on damage. If you prefer more thunderbolt than damage, be sure to check out the secret alloy – a new skill in Iceborne that can give you more chances to hit the monster. The secret alloy comes from Diablos Shield Range and also from frostfang Barioth Shield set just recently came out your best combo to be used with a Hammer Super Charge 3 >C clutch >>finished with a clutch clutch attack that's basically what you do all the time during the battle. You can mix in a fast launch hammer attack (level 2 charge) to taser a sneaky. For more details on how to play as a home hammer, check out my guide here. This guide covered the Hammer MHW early to mid-master rank. Monster Hunter World Hammer Guide and Build [MHW Iceborne 2019] MHW Hammer Build - Meta Shield Set below are some general shields of the current Meta. Raging Brachydios + Teostra Meta Shield Present is the Agitator + Master Touch. This is basically the easiest shield set for you to pick up as well. Full Safi'jiiva Shield Set True Dragonvein Awakening turns out to be a big boost DPS in MHW. However, the HP drain forces you to stay on the aggressive side, with a slow hammer attack speed, and this can serve as a turning point for most players as you have a chance to die before they kick a sweet recovery in. Saveeva Shield + Raging Brachydios Shield for Dragonvein Awakening + Secret Instigator. This group is all about attack. You will need a maximum of instigator, batch attack. MHW Hammer builds MHW Meta changed with every big monster update, and another one is Alatreon – Black Dragon. This monster has a great focus on racist weapons and has been the subject of many discussions since its release. Of course, the latest meta revolves around alatreon. Come with this is also in Frostfang Barioth – the coldest alternative of If you're going to fight Fatalis, then the first thing to do is defeat Alatreon in a certain task. We've all learned the lesson – dropping all your beautiful blast weapons Kjarr Hammer Ice is your best bet to beat Alatreon in a special quest mission. In this endeavor, Alatreon begins to actively fire mode, making the ice hammer the best option here. The best hammer for this work is Kjarr Hammer Ice – which comes with a critical element. You can use either Saviva Shield + Brachydium Shield Combine, or go with the classic Brachydium + Teostra Kjarr Ice Shield Anti-Alatreon Hammer Build [Master Touch + Secret Agitator] This building is all rounder in both elemental and rough damage. Max exploiting vulnerability and enhancing critical will enable you to run Master Touch all the time. The critical element of K j á r r Hammer is enough to bypass Alatreon to check item damage, you can add more HP using health enhancements on that Level 1 slot. You can check out this game follow a similar build from YouTube user LionHart Kjarr Ice Anti Alatreon Hammer Build [Dragonvein Awakening + Secret Agiter] This build has reached maximum elemental harm to face Alatreon's when racial damage check. However, it is generally difficult to play compared to the first structure where you will need to attack Alatreon constantly to stimulate the recovery of Draonvein Awakening. You can increase the hammer with HP Regen, but it doesn't coincide with Dragonvein Awakening. Hard to find a gem in the above building Challenger Jewel 4Foror Jewel 2 Jewel Expert 1Attack Jewel 4Hard Dragon Res Jewel 4 Hammer Meta Builds already beat Alatreon and looking for some superstructures? Here you go MHW Ice Portable Hammer Building #1 – Lightbreak Hammer PROSCONS – easy to plant for (compare with Safi'jiiva) – Universal, almost all monsters prone to explosion – and Lightbreak Hammer looks awesome! – the instigator significantly increased the damage – can be repeated after a while – almost too easy to use!– not good against the Elemental monster (Alatreon) after the braciiores rampage, Light weapons become dead for a while (so Alatreon comes by with Elemental damage verification) hammer light provides you with 1560 solid damage with 270 Blast base element. You can pair this with standard Master Touch Build (3 pieces of Teostra armor) and Strachy Raging Shield Set also provides you with a bonus to the agitator with a secret agitator. This gives you a +28 attack and 20% affinity in level 7 – a powerful addition to the Bong family why Phoenix Jewel 3? Phoenix Jewel 3 gives you Coalescence - which is basically another attack enhanced level 4 whenever you recover from a elemental pest (burn/water pest...) this increase your DPS dramatically when faced with monsters like Rathalos or Namielle MHW portable ice hammer building #2 – net in shattercrusher is still beautiful in this definition. It's less severe compared to LightBreak Hammer, but is compensated by increasing damage to awakening skills. This hammer construction has no difference with the first build, apart from the use of net crushers. You are still using 3 pieces of Teostra Shield and 2 pieces of raging Brachydios shield. MHW Iceborne Hammer build #3- Dreamcrusher from Safi This unique building is a tribute to Reddit user T3hPhish. This build is all about QoL (quality of life) skill, you got fast eating, sharpening and recovering until you reached the maximum to get the most out of the guiding land runs. The ability to stimulate sleep and then wake up the monster with a level 3 charge is the ice on the cake. Two pieces of velchwood shields are used for super recovery skills – which give you an advantage during a long chase. PROSCONS – wonderful to guide public farming land – fun to use – wonderful recovery - high damage - not good against the tempered grand dragon – you don't have identification skills (Master Touch/ Secret Agiter...) – the best use in directing the ground better hammer building MHW Iceborne's current best hammer building is definitely lightbreak hammer construction. Despite the intimidating look of Regin Brachydios, this monster can easily be farmed with a decent team and you will get yourself this hammer at any time. Compare with safi'jiiva siege, it's still easier, and it can be solo if you already have a good ice hammer (Frostfang Barioth Hammer) if you're looking for a Fatalis update, then hitting Alatreon will be your priority, however, K jarr hammer ice building is the best option.
