Conn and Théé McGuirès explore stone and water vehicles in memory through lenses of various specialties. The topics of the chapters include: - Water as a vehicle for ritual remembrance, from the earliest days of human history to the present day. - Studying the aesthetic principles of the Middle Ages to the Gothic styles of cathedrals in North America. - Julian of Norwich, the famous cloistress, walled stone compared to Etty Hillesum, a WWII-era mystic whose small table used to write his revealing diaries became his stone cloister cell. - Irish, water and stone in finnegan's wake-up call. - Warming the stone heart of a child by a foster care system. - Lack of clean water, which contributes to the spread of widespread disease. - Group behavior and the possibility of war through stone-like, (cooperative and hardened) psychological states.
