Ucla class planner

Creating an effective degree program at UCLA is an individual planning effort enabled by your own hard work and underpinned by the support of campus staff and faculty. Below are some resources to help you plan your UCLA degree. Dear Bruins: We want you to be aware of an exciting new development that will help make it easier to plan your course, and will also build stronger communication with the university about your academic needs. If you're using MyUCLA Class Planner, you know it's a valuable tool in managing your courses and planning your academic career. (If you're not using Class Scheduler, you can find the information on the Class Planner page.) Starting June 6, raising the Upcoming Course for Class Planner will allow you to manage your academic schedules throughout the year. And, you can also rate the top five courses for each term, giving our academic departments valuable feedback to help plan course offerings. These rankings will be available to you in the traditional Class Planner. You can go back to Class Planner as often as you need to by the enrollment deadline to make changes to your course settings. Currently, the upcoming course will include classes for the winter of 2012 and spring 2012; to study the classes available in the fall of 2011, you will find them in the current Class Planner. If you have questions about the upcoming course and class planner, please write myucla@college.ucla.edu. To find suggested classes, select a term and search criteria from the drop-down menu, and then click GO. Student Reminders To view the number of participants in real time and register classes to the learning list, use the MyUCLA Find a Class and Sign Up and Class Planner features.
