Image Flickr.com, courtesy of Doug Wilson Automobile tires are marked with a set of letters and numbers that provide information about the tire structure and dimensions. Understanding this code is important when selecting tyres for a particular vehicle or application. P indicates that the tyre is used for use on a car. This number indicates the width of the section - the largest width in millimeters from the outer side wall to the inner side wall; in this case, 205 millimetres. This is the percentage of the height and width ratio of the sidewall. 55 means that 55 percent of the height of the sidewall is the width of the tyre. The letter after the aspect ratio indicates the style of construction. R means a radial tire. The number following the building code is the size of the wheel in inches. This tire is designed to fit a 16 inch diameter wheel. Darkenings? Puffy eyes? Sleep deprivation is no joke when it comes to keeping your skin in top shape, but if it shows signs of too much late at night, don't be afraid – we're here to help. From inhaling a dull complexion to brightening tired eyes, you've got the tricks you need to look less tired. Short of a peaceful eight-hour quilt, nothing will make you look shiny and bushy-tailed faster than these quick skin and makeup tricks. Keep scrolling through the Byrdie guide looking for a less tired stat. A puffy face, especially under the eyes (hello, bags), is a huge giveaway that has less than proper closed eyes. But with a little help, this can be done quickly. According to Michael Roizen, M.D., president of the Wellness Institute at the Cleveland Clinic, this temporary puffiness is just fluid that, if struck with adequate rest, would have spread around the body. Without sleep, however, it is the excess fluid pools under the eyes instead. To get things moving again, you need to give the body's lymphatic drainage system to a helping hand: Give diy facial massage. While a number of techniques can help with bloating, the easiest is to use your ring fingers and, starting with the inner corners, slowly sweep your fingers along the skin toward the temples- manually helping to disperse the fluid. Use very gentle pressure (the skin here is super fine, remember) and a soothing oil like trilogly organic rosehip oil ($29) or a de-puffing eye serum like The Ordinary Caffeine Solution (see below) to help your fingers sail through the skin. Makeup artist Lisa Eldridge also recommends freezing green tea in an ice cube tray and then using the cubes to push it through the eyes below. You can help cool, soothe and de-puff in one go, while caffeine in the tea will help to stimulate the skin and get things drained away again. The Ordinary Caffeine Solution 5% + EGCG $7 Shop If puffy eyes aren't the number one giveaway, you're probably sporting some fairly instead of dark ones. Instead, the puffy under-eye bags, dark lashings caused by the buildup of the liquid as well. If you've been staring at a laptop all night, rubbing your eyes like usual, or pushing your body a little too much of late, the blood pool here results in slow drainage and slow circulation resulting in discoloration. The first port of call is a good eye cream. Scan the list of ingredients in caffeine that will enhance blood circulation and tighten blood vessels in the area, retinoic acid that will temporarily thicken the skin to disguise discoloration, or arnica (used to treat bruising caused by the herb), which reduces swelling and inflammation. Jurlique Herbal Recovery Eye Cream $56 Shop MUA Carissa Ferreri tricks the brighter, awake looking eyes ever to notice the lines are more prominent when you're tired? Or that your skin is less tight? This is because the body didn't have a chance to properly replenish its collagen reserves overnight (there's a lot of work to be done during eight hours of beauty sleep, you know). The fix is to plump your skin with super moisturizing skin care-look creams or serums containing hyaluronic acid, or facial oil rich in vitamins A, C, and E. Elemis Pro-Collagen Super Serum Elixir $78.50 Shop Looking a little sallow? According to Amit Sood, MD, associate professor of medicine at the Mayo Clinic, both sleep deprivation and chronic stress trigger a decrease in the body's melanin production, meaning the skin may seem dull or washed out. While proper relaxation, of course, is the best option, the dab of glow-enhancing primer is a great temporary measure. Victoria Beckham struggles with her facial fatigue with her Estée Lauder Morning Aura illuminating Creme, while we also love mixing creamy highlighters like Charlotte Tilbury Wonder Glow with our foundation and dabbing along eyebrow bone and eyelids. Charlotte Tilbury Wonder Glow Instant Soft-Focus Beauty Flash $41 Shop Nothing peps up a tired face a lot like a flush color. Look for the luminous blush that gives your face a rosy glow, and focus on blending the whole apples of your face and up to the cheekbones to help make your face a little put together definition. Cream formulas are great for giving skin a dewy glow; we love the RMS Beauty Lip2Cheek cream color modest, rich berry pink which can be dabbed everywhere and built up in a more intense shade. Finish with a smooth mascara and a few under-the-eye concealers, and you're good to go. RMS Beauty Lip2Cheek's Modest $36 Shop If you need to get through the day with less than ideal sleep time, mainlining coffee won't be the effect you're hoping for. Guzzling caffeine is a temporary solution, sleep expert Dr Stanley says. If you drink too much caffeine, it really becomes soothing – it gives you a boost, but then too much will have the reverse effect, he said. Instead, keep yourself hydrated with plenty of water (which helps you to plump your skin well) and look to energizing herbal teas instead, such as mint, ginseng, and lien blends. Neal's Yard Remedies Organic Refreshing Tea $3 Shop Next up: Six easy ways to recover from a bad night's sleep. Sunday night is pretty frustrating - if you're being honest. Having stayed late on Saturday and laid out both mornings, I was often not sleepy enough coming to bed. It's like a weekend jet lag. I've asked myself many times, how can I make myself tired? With a whole day of work on Monday imminent, I don't want to wake up dingy on a restless night. Instead of consulting with a sleep specialist, I decided to contact Facebook for help, as this is basically a forum to ask beauty and wellness questions without shame. I wanted to find out how other women handle bedtime for ultimate success. What better place to start than the tried and tested tips that actually work? Scroll down to see how real women cope with their own evening struggles. I put lavender on my wrist (spray or oil, no twig!) and then try to sleep on my side with my hands in prayer mode. I can keep my eyes closed and ban myself from opening them. I drift away pretty fast when I do this – Leanne Bayley. Cuddling with my cat and put a few drops of lavender oil on my pillow – Cemre Sena Baykara. Such a guarantee will help the Milestar brand gain the necessary respect and trust from users all over the world. Milestar tyres are unique in design; thus, the final product always stands out from the competition. Choosing this brand means you're willing to invest in a high-quality design that won't wear off in a short time. Design features Each product on the market is created with a wide variety of features. These are design elements that help customers easily identify preferred products. In the following points, we highlight the modern design elements of Milestar tyres and, in general, the benefits of these Drivers have optimal control as Milestar tyres to improve handling for all vehicles. These tires are designed to provide more traction; so they have wide perimeter ribs. Another advantage of these ribs is their ability to provide better road grip, regardless of the surface to ride. One design feature Milestar includes is the design of the tires for sipping. The siping is integrated into the tyre tread to help the tyre withstand the effects of hydroplaning while ensuring that adhesion remains consistent. If these tyres are used on wet roads, slips are curbed and your safety is ensured primarily because of the integrated tread. Milestar tyres are critically characterized by their durability. If the tire can not withstand wear performance is considered useless because it does not meet its intended purpose. Tyres are usually used for thousands of miles; so they must be durable enough to withstand normal pressure. Some features that ensure durability include wide grooves. Milestar tyres allow and maintain tyre stiffness thanks to the design of the step groove. This is an intelligent design feature that helps against the impact of tires on hard surfaces. The Tread part of the Milestar tires are made of infusion silica gel, and this is done with an increased service life of the tire. In addition to a longer tread life, silica gel also helps to reduce chips and damage. One design feature milestar always includes is an extensive tread pattern, as it helps maintain the balance of the vehicle. Balance is essential for any car, as it determines how comfortable it will be while on the road. Milestar tires are happy to drive, and this comfort can be felt on the steering wheel once the journey begins. Add the rating
