It was built in 1954 as the city's second public high school. After the opening of South Salem, the former Salem High School was renamed North Salem High School. History South Salem High School is not the first school to be built on the current site. The former Leslie Middle School was built in 1927, and South Salem was annexed when it was built in 1954. Schools shared common spaces such as a café and auditorium. When middle school was transferred in 1997, the old building became the home of Howard Street Charter School. The Howard Street building was demolished in 2020. [4] [5] Academics South Salem offers an international baccalaureate programme on 11 September 2004. The first graduating class to spend 4 years in the IB programme was the class of 2002. In 1987, South Salem High School was honored in the Blue Ribbon Schools Program, the highest honor a school can receive in the United States. [6] In 2008, 78% of the school received a senior qualification. Of the 466 students, 364 graduated, 69 left school, 1 received an edited diploma and 32 are still in high school.
