Not really in a physical sense at the moment, but an online sense. And they'll bet. The Iowa Greyhound Park is four days into its 104-performance, 2020 greyhound racing season, and the amount of money being wagered is huge. A look back at the good old days when the track first opened in 1965. Opening night last Saturday night saw a track handle of $196,736, which was almost as much money as the track handled throughout May last year. Sunday afternoon was another $159,635 in bets. This week got off to an even better start, with $209,317 wagered on Wednesday night's 15-race card. Thursday night's handle was $177,453. The track handle all last year was $6.4 million. At this early rate, it would be $19 million-plus this year. Year. Be honest with you, I was just hoping for $80,000 on opening day, said Brian Carpenter, Iowa Greyhound Park's racing director and general manager. We came up to $3,000 away from $200,000 there, and I wanted to pay someone to make a $3,000 bet for us. The problem is that Carpenter couldn't have found anyone, at least not from Iowa. Under state law, Iowans are unable to gamble on races on IGP online. ARTICLE CONTINUES UNDER AD It's only in person or via simulcast from another circuit, such as Prairie Meadows in Des Moines. The COVID-19 pandemic has closed both facilities to fans. So, that $743,143 wagered so far has come from everywhere except Iowa. They can't say we don't bring revenue from out of state, that's for sure, Carpenter said. It's probably the best handles we've had since the late '80s, early '90s. We're pretty happy. Don't get me wrong, we miss our customers. But we're happy to be open. We are happy to be on time (with the season). We're on time and everything's going well. The handles are great, but we really miss having the patrons inside screaming and screaming and stuff like that. It seems kind of weird that no one is there, excited for the races. IGP benefits from everything that closes. There are no sports to bet on, except NASCAR and UFC, and most other greyhounds and horse tracks are closed. Most casinos across the country are also not open. I think it's a combination of people missing gambling and all the other tracks being closed right now, Carpenter said. Saturday night we had no one to fight, we were the only job in the country that was open. Then Sunday, we heard Palm Beach (greyhounds) was open, as well as a few horse tracks. I think this gives us a bit of a window into what's going to happen next year when all of the Florida tracks close. Florida had 11 greyhound tracks and each one will be closed by the end of this year because state voters approved a law to ban racing there. One track in Birmingham, Ala., also recently shut down for good, with another in West Memphis, Ark., after suit after 2022. Iowa Greyhound Park will be one of only five open tracks next year, joining Southland (West Memphis), two in West Virginia and another in Texas. The industry is withering away. Iowa previously had track closures in Waterloo and Council Bluffs. I think we're doing great dealing sensibly this year, Carpenter said. But the future of greyhound racing, I don't see it going to take long. People stop breeding. Besides a shortage of money, there will just be a shortage of dogs. Ten years from now, I personally don't think you're going to see dog races in the United States. It might be shorter. That, but I try to be optimistic. The day day Come to an end, I'll be sad, because I've been doing this for 35 years. Iowa Greyhound Park races Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday nights at 5:30 and Sunday afternoon at 1.
