Chester nova scotia real estate

The south shore, known as the lighthouse route for all the lighthouses that are still standing in their seats, is the end of the road. Experience its way of life and be amazed by the diversity, beauty and peace of its coastal landscape. The traditions of the south shore are shaped by the sea. Further south from Peggy's Cove to Kejimikujik Seaside Adjunct, the beaches offer countless outdoor adventures, including sea canoeing, sailing, surfing and diving. Look at the seal sun on flat ocean rocks. Bluenose II is an example of Nova Scotia's maritime traditions. Nova Scotia has miles of stunning beaches, a rugged coastline, pounding surfing, quiet bream and protected entrances, and has something to offer all buyers. It is not unusual to find property so secluded that no other building or person can be seen anywhere. You can expect fishing boats, pier, decent fish cabins, sailboats and all the characteristics of coastal living. For great canoeing and hiking, explore Kejimikujik National Park and the national historical area. Cape Breton's Cabot Trail is another jewel and don't forget our stunning country markets in Lunenburg, Chester, Hubbards, Liverpool and Bridgewater For centuries, the beauty of the South Shore has inspired artists, writers and musicians coming to various festivals. Numerous festivals and theatres bring to life colourful characters, stories and music that capture the spirit of this dynamic coastal region. Combine these artists with master chefs preparing the province's finest culinary offerings for a truly memorable South Shore experience. And if you want to explore other beautiful cities of Nova Scotia, there is more to see in its diverse areas and landscapes. In Lunenburg, there is much to look like from the Galleries, music, art and music schools. You'll be enchanted by the Blue Rocks and Stonehurst.
