Journey (All Artist) Vestal Goodman, lover of the Queen of Gospel Music, died Dec 27 in Celebration, Fla., near Orlando. Goodman, who turned 74 on Dec 17, was on holiday with the family for the Christmas holidays when he developed a flu case. Born Vestal Freeman, she grew up in Alabama, dreaming of a career as an opera singer. All that changed when he met Howard Happy Goodman on a revival in Albertville, Ala. Both were married to Nov. 7, 1949 and were barely inseamable until his death in November 2002 at 81. During the 50s, Vestal rose to highlight the show with her husband and brothers, Rusty and Sam, as The Goodman Happy Family. The group recorded three independent albums before forging a 25-year relationship with the World's Canaan Records imprint. They were also original members of the Nyaying Gospel Jubli syndicate television show. They were instilled into the Gospel Music Hall of Fame in 1996.Goodman was the recipient of the Gospel Music Association's first Dove Award for female vocally this year in 1969. Throughout his career, he won many Grammy and Dove Awards and was known for hits like I'm Not Going to Take Anything for My Journey Now. He and Howard also established and patched the Life Temple Church in Madisonville, Ky., for several years. I love Vestal. But who doesn't? says singer/comedian Mark Lowry, recalling Goodman's gratitude. He'll pray for you on a hat-ty. For over 50 years she stood with me and shared tears, joy and prayers with me as I had with her, says gospel singer legend/songwriter Dottie Rambo. Before the concert days, TV shows and all successes, Vestal and I shared a $12 offer from small country churches. Friendships like us will not be replaced. The world may have lost a great singer, but I lost my best friend and big sister. As well as collaborating with The Happy Goodman Family, Vestal enjoyed a successful solo career. He was recognized alone by his colleagues in the gospel community, but loved and respected among Christian music and contemporary nations as well. In 1999, two special Vestal & Friends projects were released. These albums featured Goodman with Duet partners include George Jones, Dolly Parton, Vince Gill, Newsboys, Sandi Patty, Katinas, Andrae Crouch, and Bill and Gloria Gaither. In recent years, Vestal and Howard Goodman have become featured performers in the successful series Gaither concert/Homecoming video. They also continued to hold a Happy Goodman Family concert with fellow/musician Johnny Minnick. When her husband died in 2002, someone asked if Goodman would retire. He replied, You didn't retire from the call. Known for her vibrant and waving stage dress to her trademark white handwash while performing, Goodman is scheduled to alternate in the New Year at the annual Jubilate event in Charlotte, N.C. He has performed through December with Gaither and others on the Homecoming Christmas Tour. Her voice is strong, says Lowry. The smile is sunny. And, he looks like he lives a hundred. Goodman is survived by a son and daughter, Rick and Vicki, four grandchildren and three grandchildren.
