Feb 18, 2017 12:53 AM ET Order reprint Print article Getty Images The house isn't always home, but Home Depot (HD) is still the go-to stock in home improvement. And that shouldn't change when the company reports a profit on Tuesday. Analysts expect Home Depot to report a profit of $1.33 per share for the fiscal fourth quarter, ended January 31, according to FactSet-potential increase of 14% from a year ago. Revenue likely rose 4 percent to $21.8 billion. And the results may even beat those estimates. Why... An error has occurred, please try again later. Thank you This article was posted the next time you check the price on the item at Home Depot, take a closer look. According to MyDomaine, if the price tag is yellow, that means the item is up for check-in. The price ending at 0.06 indicates that the price will fall by another three cents over six weeks. When the price ends at 0.03, the item must be sold within three weeks—otherwise it's off the shelf for good. If you are considering an item with a price that ends with these digits, consider scooping it up before it's too late.
