It will take a lot of effort, and since the game is very small, and not played by many people - it is not worth the time it will take. If you want to play it offline, you can use the itch.io and download the game there. Ten years ago, engagement 4201, like 10 years ago, I loved it! Thanks for doing that. I keep losing... But still, very well doneFerran Bertomeu4 years AgoAlso not sure if I should do something with the patches in the water. I can not get the last milkBinary Moon4 years agoYou are right - a comment on the dark water was a red herring. The last milk is the last in the shed? Perhaps you should take the milk into the hidden area. You can find it by walking through some of the trees in the area to the left of the one with the sign. Get out of the house, lift the garden to the main landscape with the sign. Then to the left. You can go through some of the trees here.sugarplus4 years love art, and the way the game scrolls to neighboring rooms is really nice!plastic tree4 years ago your milk was in another castlevery good, cheerfully goodChalsy 1 years agoNice! Control, camera, understanding of targets... Clean, except it's all blurred for me :((Safari 9.0.1 / MacOSX 10.11.1)Binary Moon4 years agoHi Charles. Thanks for the feedback - really enjoys the game running (mostly) OK for you :)Seems had a problem scaling html5 canvas. I had removed the sample in Chrome, but it does not work in all other browsers. Now I tested Safari and updated a fix. I hope it now works for you?sugarplus4 years ago We used this technique to perfectly zoom pixels with Phaser: render the game on canvas 64x64 and then copy the image to a scaled version. However, this disables clicking events. :)Binary Moon4 years agothansed the relationship. I'll take a look. I chose to disable smoothing then use CSS to disable blur. The problem before is that I only tested it in Chrome. I think he works everywhere now :))
