Lexington county register of deeds sc

12 March 2019 | Posted by: Connor Watkins At this morning's breakfast sponsored by Lexington Medical Center, Tina Guerry, Register of Letters for Lexington County, spoke with members about his office and its role in our community. So how did the Registry of Deeds Office come to exist? During the Civil War, Sherman and his soldiers came through Lexington County en route to the capital. They left behind a path of destruction by torching the court building that held important land records of that time. The current ROD office has original land records from the mid-1800s. The register of deeds in 23 districts is separate government offices, 6 of which have been elected and 17 appointed offices. The remaining districts function as a register of facts in the elected judicial office. 1976 Home Rule Act-SC Code of Laws 30-5-10 Why is the Office's Register of Deeds Important? The Office assists in the legal transfer of property, lien on property and property divided by the family, but has never recorded all while maintaining the integrity of these documents. Whether you work at a reception that receipts documents for a record or a job in customer service, interaction with citizens and officials in the office is a daily occurrence. The staff is trained in all areas of the office and includes members who bring 26 years of experience to that office. The Register of Documents bureau accepts the following documents for record purposes: Deeds, Schedules of Distribution, Title to Real Estate, Quit Claim Deeds Relief and Right to Ways federal & state tax lien - (satisfaction and withdrawals, reports, cancellations) Mechanics Lien Mortgages - (tasks, satisfaction, adjustments, administration) Plats (One plot, division) Power of attorneys (cancellation) UCC Financial Statements-Uniform Commercial Code (Only in respect of real estate all other UCC are filed in the Secretary of State Office) Register of Deeds Office provides the following services : Performs all duties relating to the recording of real estate documents (deeds, mortgages, salaries, etc.) Fulfills the obligation by making documents available to the public (in the office and online) Perform all obligations to record state and federal tax lien Perform all obligations to record the mechanics of lien Maintain and store all land records for Lexington County Assist our citizens and other users with obtaining copies of all documents relating to real estate. Collects state and county-mandated fees for documents and concessions It provides integration with eRecording partners for electronic submitters Since 2011, the number of recorded acts has increased significantly from 9,475 to 14,341 (2018). Move forward, the registry deeds will make improvements, including increased eRecording, implementation of new software, scanning older records for and so residents can access them electronically and electronically transfer oversized records to SC Archives.Join us for our next breakfast on Tuesday, April 9th at 7:30 a.m. at RADIUS Church, where Columbia Metropolitan Airport Executive Director Mike Gulla will give a keynote speech.
