Google drive cats

Source: Android Central Some users are having problems with Google Drive this morning. The outage began around 10 a.m. eastern. Of the reports, it appears to be limited to Google Drive in the US and its associated productivity suite has been hit by limited outages in parts of the United States this morning. The outage began around 10am ET, but has yet to be resolved or reflected in the Google app's status page at the time of writing. Just looking at the volume of messages on Twitter or Down Detector so far that it's not a huge outage, it's just something to keep in mind, should you run into any problems with Drive or Docs in the near future is Google Drive up for you as well? Let us know in the comments below. The best VPN service in 2020 Google Drive is a cloud storage solution with 15GB of storage available for free and paid plans, plus additional storage and features. Google Drive is a user-friendly option thanks to its easy interface and integration with Google Docs. If you're new to Google Drive, see the following guide to learn how to create an account, upload and download documents, share files, and get the most out of your service. Get started with accessing the Google Drive screenshot Step 1: If you don't already have one, you'll need to get a Google Account before continuing to Drive. It's free to sign up, while also give you smooth, synchronized access to all Google services. You'll have to pay a fee if you want more than 15 GB of storage, but whether you choose to do so won't affect your ability to use the service. Downloading Google Chrome does not hurt even due to the popular web browser contains several extensions and tools that integrate well with Disk. Step 2: When you sign in (or sign in to an existing account), you can access Disk through a browser or dedicated mobile app that's currently available for both Android and iOS. Navigating the Screen shot When you sign in to a drive, click the new multicolor button in the upper-left corner or My Drive, located toward the center of the screen. In the mobile app, press the plus circle in the lower-right corner. A menu opens that allows you to create or upload a file to a drive. Create a spreadsheet, text document, presentation presentation, form, drawing, and more through third-party applications. We won't go in depth on how to use each of these free programs here, but here are some tips on how to learn how to use these services quickly: Tip 1: The buttons on the disk are pretty simple, but if you're ever sure what a person is doing, just hover over it with your mouse. You should see a pop-up window that explains the function of the button. Tip 2: If you've ever used Microsoft Office , that is, Excel, Word, or PowerPoint, then the worksheets, documents, Imagery software should look familiar. They work similarly and are probably more intuitive. You won't find as many advanced features as in Microsoft software, but the drive is free, so you might expect it. Tip 3: Although you can go to the primary Documents, Sheets, or Slides page and view all files of this type in one place, creating folders can be a better way to keep track. To create a folder, click the New button in the upper-left corner, select Folder, and then name the file directory. Then simply drag the files to the folder of your choice from the main page of the drive. You can also star files that you'll have access to later by clicking Add a Star on this item's menu, even if you keep in mind that only the person who added them can view them, not the person you're sharing the item with. Tip 4: Another way to quickly find an item on a drive is to use The Drive Search feature. At the top of each page is a box where you can search for a file by using its name or file type. If you press the down arrow or other search tools in this field, you can enter even more and search for files based on specific criteria, such as the date or with whom you shared the file. Pull the best out of google Drive Uploading and sharing documents To upload a document to Disk, click upload files or Upload file under New or My Drive and select a file from your computer. The drive is great for personal work, but what sets it apart from other cloud services is its powerful collaboration tools. If you need to work remotely with someone on a project, you can share a document with them and make real-time changes together. To share a document after you create it, go to the upper-right corner of the file window and look for the Share button. To share a document after you create it, click the Share button in the upper-right corner, add coworkers using email addresses, and then click the blue Done button. After you grant access, the document should appear on the Shared with Me tab on the Drive dashboard, and a link to the shared document will also be sent to your e-mail inbox. screenshot You can use the share link at the bottom of the Share with People and Groups menu to send a file using text or another messaging service. Just click on the Copy link at the bottom of this menu. In a shared document, you can see who else is editing it by displaying it in the upper-right corner of the window. Coworkers' names appear in different colors (or with a picture of their account), so you can quickly distinguish them. To see who it is, hover over any color. Downloading documents and accessing files offline Another useful feature of the drive is view and edit files even if you don't have Internet access. Internet, you have to do is download google docs offline extension for google chrome. Once you've downloaded and turned on your drive settings, you can access specific files (Documents, Sheets, and Slides) even when you're traveling or without the Internet for a few hours. Next to the file name in the file window, you'll see a gray circle with a screw that lets you know when you're offline. However, one of the drawbacks of this problem is that you only have access to files that you have created and did not share with anyone. You must also have already opened Google Drive in your browser to do so. Data can also be accessed offline via the mobile app, provided you've turned on the shared in settings in advance. Add multiple coworkers through a Google Group If you want to share a document with a large group of people, you can avoid individually entering each email address by sharing the document with the entire Google Group. Each person in this group (as well as people added to the group later) will then have access to the shared person. Share multiple files at once? Do you need to share many files at once? Instead of sharing individual files individually, you can move them to a folder and share them. Anyone you share a folder with will have access to all the data in it. Convert documents created with other programs Do you need to share a document with coworkers or friends to collaborate on it, but do you already have a file in another similar program? There's no need to worry. If your documents are in the right format, most files are easy to convert to Google Documents, which can then be shared and edited together. To do this, just upload the file you want and open it on disk. Then, on the preview screen of the document that appears, select the Open with drop-down menu button. Select a program from this menu and convert it to Google Docs format. Below are the file formats that can currently be converted to Google Drive. Documents Spreadsheets Drawings OCR .doc .xls .ppt .wmf .jpg .docx .xlsx .pps .gif .html .ods .pptx .png Plain Text (.txt) .csv .pdf .rtf .tst .xlt .tab Return to an earlier version of the screenshot of .jpg .docx .xlsx .pps .gif .html .ods .pptx .png document A significant problem when collaborating is that it is generally a pain to fix something that was wronged by someone else. Especially with live documents to which several people have access, monitoring changes becomes a headache. Fortunately, you don't have to worry if you find yourself in one of these situations – Google has your back. The drive saves each updated version of documents for 30 days or 100 revisions, which is what comes next. The built-in save feature makes it easy to go back to an earlier version of the file (even several times). To load an earlier revision to open the file you want to change, Click File, and then click Version History. Then select View version history. A new screen opens and a bar appears on the right side of the document. This panel lists previous revisions in chronological order. Click on any of them to get a preview of this particular review. If you're after it, click the blue Refresh this version button that appears at the top of the screen. Click it to return the document to this version. Version History also lets you see who made the changes. When sharing documents, be careful who has edit rights versus read-only rights to avoid unauthorized changes. Baby can drive my Google Drive is a cloud-based storage service that is cross-platform and great for syncing and sharing files between devices. Google Drive is Google's cloud storage service, but you can do so much more than just save files. You can also share files with others and collaborate in real time with others and you don't have to be on the same platform to make it work. Here's everything you need to know about Google Drive. What's new in Google Drive? May 14, 2018: Welcome to Google One Google has announced a new paid program coming soon for Google Drive users in the U.S. (and in the coming months, the rest of the world): Google One. This program replaces Google Drive paid storage levels (but not Google Drive apps and the service itself). It provides the same 15GB of free storage for your Google Account and Apps, but also offers cheaper paid levels: $1.99/month gives you 100GB, $2.99 for 200GB, and $9.99 for 2TB. Levels of 10 TB ($99.99 per month), 20 TB ($199.99 per month) and 30 TB ($299.99 per month) remain unchanged. Google also plans to add additional benefits for one subscriber, including special offers on flights and travel, discounts and more. We'll hear more about one in the coming months, so stay tuned. Disk is a great old online storage service operated by ... You guessed it, Google. With it, you can store and access files on all mobile devices, mac or PC. You can store dozens of file types in the cloud and keep large files, such as movies and music, so you can access them from anywhere. And I mean anywhere. The disc is supported across platforms, so you can access your stuff on your iPhone, iPad, Mac, PC, Android devices, android devices, android tablets, and Windows phones. You don't even need a native app on your device. Just go to Drive.Google.com from any web browser and sign in. Not only can you save files to Disk, but you can share documents with others and collaborate in real time. Actually, it's pretty amazing. Your co-workers specific type of phone, tablet or computer, they only need How do I sign up for Google Drive? If you have a Gmail or Google Account, you already have access to Google Drive. All you have to do is go to the Drive.Google.com and log in. How much does Google Drive cost? While you can save up to 15GB courtesy of your free Google Account, you'll need a paid Google One subscription to store more data. 100 GB for $1.99 per month 200 GB for 2.99 USD per month 2 TB for 9.99 USD per month 10 TB for 99.99 USD per month 20 TB for 199.99 USD per month 30 TB for 299.99 USD per month What type of files can I save to Google Drive? Almost anything. Google Drive supports movies, music, photos, productivity documents, and more. Here is a list of supported files and the size of Google says you will save them in Drive. File sizes These are documents, spreadsheets, and presentation sizes that you can save to Google Drive. Documents: Up to 1.02 million characters. If you convert a text document to Google Docs, it can be up to 50 MB in size. Tables: Up to 2 million cells for tables that are created in Google sheets or converted to Google Sheets. Presentations: Up to 100 MB for presentations converted to Google slides. All other files: Up to 5 TB. PPTX) Word (. DOC and. DOCX) XML paper specification (. XPS) Can I work offline with documents in Google Drive? You can. With Chrome, you can access Drive and work in offline documents. If you have another web browser set as your default setting, such as Safari, you'll want to change it to Chrome so it doesn't go wrong if you click something on Drive while you're working offline (if it switches to another browser, you might lose content halfway through the action). You can also enable offline mode when using the iPhone, iPad, and Android apps. To use offline mode, you need to download the Disk app for your device. You'll also need to make sure you're signed in with Google credentials before going offline. The account cannot be verified offline. If you're not already signed in to all of your Google Accounts, you won't have any access to anything. How do I get to Google Drive on my PC, phone, and tablet? The Disk app requires download on your iPhone, iPad, and Android devices from the appropriate app stores. You can download Mac or PC directly from Google. How do I share a document with someone using Google Drive? Sharing documents is incredibly easy. Just select File, select Share and enter the email address of the person or people you want to share the document with. When you share a document, you can choose what access the other person should have. You can allow them to edit a document, view a document, or comment in the sidebar of the document. When you select the contact you want to share the document with, click the Who can edit menu next to the email address, and then select Can edit, View, or Comment. You can also create a sharing link if you don't have a direct Google person's address. That person can then go to the URL and sign in with their Google credentials. Any questions?
