Alternatively, if you want to keep your IP address private, you can use the unlock request system. If you are using a Wikipedia account, you will need to request an IP blocking exemption by using the unlock template or by submitting an appeal using the entry unlock request system. Administrators: The IP block exemption user right should only be applied to allow users to edit using the web host in exceptional circumstances, and should typically be directed to the officials team by email. If you intend to give the IPBE user right, a CheckUser needs to take a look at the account. This can be requested more easily in SPI Quick Checkuser Requests. Unlocking an IP or IP range with this template is highly discouraged without at least contacting the blocking manager. This block has been configured to expire: 15:28, December 12, 2020. Even if it's blocked, you'll usually still be able to edit your user conversation page and send an email to other publishers and administrators. Obtained 000_or_more_inhabitants/cityname:_X Good Night, Simple Question: Is There a Country Starting with X in Any Language? Thanks in advance. I can't think of any in Portuguese unless you count legendary lands like Shangrila (Xangrila). But I bet you'll find one in Galician. That's a strange question. (but an interesting one, however, since I can't think of any!) One thing I can think of is the Chinese of Singapore. If we write it in Pinyin, it starts with X加坡 xin1 jia1 po1. Conforms to the criteria? I can't think of any in Portuguese unless you count legendary lands like Shangrila (Xangrila). But I bet you'll find one in Galician. Galego (beautiful lol language &lt;t:3) Xamaica - Jamaica Xapón - Japan Xeorxia - Georgia Xibuti - Djibouti Xordania - Jordan No x in Italian, no countries starting with x. How do I pronounce the x in Xanten? Like English x in fix. Thank you. It's an unusual initial sound for a Germanic word, isn't it? Could you tell us a little bit about his etymology? Wikipedia tells you something about. There must be tons in Catalan, but the first one I can think of is Xina. One thing I can think of is the Chinese of Singapore. If we write it in Pinyin, start with X. Yo! I am very honored that my little country comes to your mind. If this meets the criteria, then I will contribute to Syria - 叙利亚 xu4 i4 ya4. There is no X in Serbian Latin (neither are W, Q and Y). However, X in Serbian Cyrillic is in fact Latin H so there are countries that start with X (H) like Hrvatska / (Croatia) etc. XinJiang is a province now within Chinese borders. Since the local population is not Chinese (they have not at least), they are Muslims, and it is a self-government province, I think it might appear here Note that the name comes from the Chinese pinyin新疆 (x'n j'ing), so I know there is no other name of this country. I can't think of anything in Persian. If there are, its phonetic value would probably be x in Russian, Arabic, Hebrew, etc. Or a German ch plus gutter or scottish ch. There must be in Catalan, but the first to occur to me is Xina. Not tons, but you could think of three: (la) Xina (China), Xile (Chile) and Xipre (Cyprus). The X sounds like sh in shoe, but a lot of people pronounce it as Spanish ch. XinJiang is a province now within Chinese borders. Since the local population is not Chinese (they have not at least), they are Muslims, and it is a self-government province, I think it could appear here in Spanish we call it Albanian Chinese Turkestan uses the digraph &lt;xh&gt; for the /tʃ /sound, so they spell Djibouti and Jamaica as Xhibuti and Xhihamaka. Not in Polish, as far as I know. Nor in Greek, in Greek, there is only one Greek city whose name begins with [ks] &gt;: Ἐὐθέη [ˈksan.ɨ] (fem.) in the ne hour of Greece, which is also the name of its prefecture of the same name (county).
