Kero the wolf twitter

From WikiFur, a fluffy encyclopedia. Josh Hoffman Kero Wolf with his fursuit head Kero Wolf Kero Wolf 2.0 Kero Wolf Fan Club (by ArtworkTee) Kero Wolf, also known by his real name Joshua Hoffman, is a former fursuiter and YouTuber who lives in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, USA. He was mostly active in the furry community from 2012 to 2018. Fandom's involvement in Kero's editing first joined the fandom sometime in 2012 after learning about it from his former friend SnakeThing. Kero claims that he saw wallpaper with the image of wild animals, and this interested him. In the beginning, he spent mostly time on Vine, Twitter and Fur Affinity before setting up a YouTube account on July 7, 2013. For the first few years of his time on YouTube, Kero mostly uploaded the occasional fluffy related video and became somewhat well known in the furry YouTube landscape. After becoming a popofur sometime in 2017, a friend of Kero's named Ashley zoe Fox spoke to popular YouTuber Shane Dawson, and persuaded him to ask Kero to interview him about the fluffy fandom. Shane later uploaded a video called WEIRD SIDE OF YOUTUBE: FURRIES on July 6, 2017. As a result, Kero's video gained 10,000 subscribers to 90,000. It later reached 100,000 subscribers in early 2018. During this time, Kero was seen as a widely respected person in fandom and continued to produce content for his channel regularly until September 2018. Leaving and reuniting with fandom in September 2018, the Twitter leaks have started a serious controversy around Kero. Many accused him, among other things, of bestiality. Kero will continue to upload some videos to his channel until November 2018. After months of receiving hate and threats though, Kero left the furry fandom. However, later in 2019, he said he would eventually return to YouTube to clean up his name after the investigation was completed. From 2020, it remains low, but still interacts with its audiences on Patreon, Fur Affinity and YouTube. Fursuits (edit) YouTube (edited) Kero was known for making video tips for other furies, as well as doing vlogs and live broadcasts. He also made collabs with other famous furry YouTubers, and also had an affair for filming nature scenes. He also did some logo animation early in his YouTube career. Controversial (edit) Main article: The zoo-sadist evidence In September 2018, Telegram chat logs circulated on the Internet, which appear to indicate that Kero is discussing acts of bestiality and necrophilia with animals, as well as videos that Are Alleged to Be Kero committing such acts. Kero disputed the claims on the grounds that some of the features of those in the video did not Kero, however, the custom photos of Telegram chat magazines seem to match Kero's real account, which include Kero's photos The man, who was allegedly found on the road, said the video was sent to him in person to SnakeThing. Kero variously claimed that his account had been hacked, or that the logs had been tampered with, although the latter was not technically possible since the logs were sent through Telegram's own server information. It is alleged that Kero used a proxy IP address through a VPN to fake this screenshot. On September 28, 2018, Kothoriks posted a video on YouTube in which he stated that he had personally encountered Kero, with whom he had previously spoken, about the authenticity of the magazines. In the video, Kothorix claims that Kero confessed to him that the magazines were real and that he has an interest in some aspects of bestiality. (Timestamp 7:58) He went on to say that Kero denied engaging in any actual, physical sexual acts by animals that are directly in conflict with the now-confirmed information in chat logs. Kero echoes that assertion in a video interview with Ashley's zoe Fox, uploaded the same day, saying, I've never had sex with any animals. In this second video, Kero repeats his claim that his Telegram account was hacked, adding that he later lost control of the account because of this and that the previous screenshot he posted of the account he still had access to was fake, found online. He claimed that the magazines were only five percent true. He said that he had, in fact, joined a chat group for wild works through which he befriended Elisar/Snake-Thing, another person implicated in magazines who was later arrested in real life, and that he eventually stopped talking to that man because he was made uncomfortable. Despite the controversy between the video between Kothorix and Ashley, Kero retweeted a link to the Kothorix video and called it accurate. (quote necessary) Consequences (edit) Along with other people who have been identified in chat logs, the evidence against Kero was presented to the authorities. In a tweet posted on November 8, 2018, Kero revealed that he was under police investigation, saying he was taking the situation seriously and apologizing for causing a fluffy fandom problem on January 30, 2019, to Kero put out a tweet after a two-month absence in which he said he was leaving fandom, citing toxic mentalities and witch hunts against community members. Around June 2019, Kero sold his third fur suit to his fan named Diamond Dwolf, who said they would wear it at Anthrocon 2019. It is not known whether they passed their decision or not. The fate of his other two fur suits is currently unknown, although it is likely that Kero still owns them. During Anthrocon 2019, it was reported that Kero was in attendance, leading to speculation that selling his fursuit was a ploy to himself could walk in it. it was discovered that someone was going around wearing a second fur suit by Kero. On July 20, 2019, LordOcelet, a unbelieving, real-life friend of Kero, uploaded a video that confirmed he was wearing a Kero fur suit. According to Ashley zoe Fox, who was also present at the scam, it was done as a social experiment to see if furry there would be cared for or not. Kero has mentioned several times in the past he wants to return to making videos on YouTube, but states that he can't because he has to wait for the investigation to end. Despite this, The Wolf Reported that in late 2018 and early 2019, Pennsylvania State Police seized all of Kero's electronic devices after obtaining a warrant. About 30 devices were removed. Because of this, Kero can't make a video since November 2018. Links to Kero's Twitter profile. Received on September 22, 2018. Mirror remote video by Shane Dawson. Received on April 25, 2020. (1)...
