This list focuses on the preparation of non-parochial colleges for private schools. Founded in 1899 by Tarrytown840 students, Grades K-12 Hackley School was founded in 1899 by Mrs. Caleb Brewster Hackley, a unitarian leader who owned the mansion where she founded the school in the summer. The school was originally a boarding school for boys from a wide range of economic, ethnic and religious backgrounds. In 1970, the school became a coeducational school and added the K-4 program from 1970 to 1972. The boarding program is now a five-day program. The school, which now has 840 students K-12 enrolled, has a rigorous academic program and 62 sports teams building the school tradition of an early football team. The school has always appreciated the sense of community and the power of friendship. The school's mission is as follows: Hackley challenges students to grow in nature, scholarship and achievement, provide unreserved work, and learn from different perspectives and backgrounds in our community and world. Students tend to score well in advanced placement (AP) exams, and the middle 50% of the recently graduating class ranged from 1280 to 1460 in the SAT math and critical reading sections (up from a possible 1,600). According to the principal, diversity is essential to our understanding of what good education is and one of the hallmarks of our community's culture. Founded in 1877 located in Dobb Ferry588 Students, grades 5-12 Located in Dobbs Ferry, 30 miles from New York City, Masters School was founded in 1877 by Eliza Bailey Masters, who wanted her students who were girls, has a serious classical education and not just education provides a typical finishing school... As a result, the girls in the school studied Latin and mathematics, and at the turn of the century the curriculum became prep for colleges by nature. The school attracted boarding students from all over the country. In 1996, the school became a secondary school, and a boys' secondary school was created alongside girls' secondary school. Secondary school also began using oval Harkness tables and their conversational teaching style, which originated at Phillips Exeter Academy. The school also started the term CITY , a semester program that uses New York City as a learning laboratory. There are now 588 pupils enrolled in the school from grades 5 to 12 (flight and day) and built a new science and technology center. 25% of students receive financial support. The school's mission is: The Master's School offers a challenging academic environment that encourages critical, creative and independent mindsets and a lifelong passion for learning. Masters School promotes and celebrates academic achievement, artistic development, ethical activities, athletic aspiration and personal growth. The school maintains a diverse community that encourages students to actively participate in decisions that affect their lives and to develop their responsibilities towards a larger world. Founded in 1869 for Rye850 students, Grades PK-12 RCDS was founded in 1869 when local parents invited Pastor William Life and his wife Susan to Ruk to educate their daughters. Rye's school, which opened as a women's seminar, began to focus on girls preparing for university. In 1921, the school merged with the boys' rye school to form a rye day school. Today, 850 students attend the school in pre-K–12 classes. Fourteen per cent of its students receive financial support. The school's mission is as follows: Rye Day School is a coeducational school, a prep school dedicated to providing preschool and Class 12 pupils with excellent education using both traditional and innovative approaches. In a nurturing and supportive environment, we offer a challenging program that encourages individuals to reach their maximum potential through academic, athletic, creative and social goals. We are actively committed to diversity. We expect and promote moral responsibility and strive to develop strength of character in a respectful school community. Our goal is to promote a lifelong passion for learning, understanding and service in a constantly changing world. Founded in 1916 located in Mount Kisco (Primary School Campus)Located in Bedford (Middle School campus)521 Students, Grades PK-9 Rippowam was founded in 1916 by Rippowam School for Girls. In the early 1920s, the school became a coeducational school and later merged with the more progressive Cisca School in 1972. The school now has an average of 18 pupils and a faculty-student ratio of 1:5. Many of the school's graduates attend boarding schools and local day schools. The school's mission is as follows: Rippowam Cisca School's mission is to educate students into independent thinkers who rely on their abilities and themselves. We are committed to a dynamic program in academic, art and athletics and support a committed faculty to challenge students to find and explore their abilities to the full. Honesty, thoughtfulness and respect for others are essential to rippowam Cisca. In an atmosphere that promotes intellectual curiosity A lifelong love of learning, Rippowam Cisca strives to create a strong sense of connection for students in their community and in the larger world.
