Balloon in a wasteland 2

When the balloon crashes into a bird creature wasteland, its time to survive. Upgrade your weapons, strong and turrets as you try to fix your balloon This was too ambitious a project for me. The scope of the project was actually much greater than what appears here, even in the current arena feeling too much. My big idea was to make a really great 2D survival simulator. There would be additional outposts to travel. There were cities to travel. The game took a lot of balance and time, and due to restrictions the massive project was never completed. However, the final project here was very well received and I am happy with how it turned out. Acquire weapons, a fortress and turrets as you try to fix your balloon. Balance your free time between battles so you are ready for future waves. Try to escape as soon as you can! Gameplay[edit | Edit] Use the keyboard to move around and use YOUR MOUSE to aim and shoot. The enemies will approach from the right side of the screen in waves, and will have to cut them off as they come. Kill enemies reward you with cash to buy upgrades. Between waves, comes a shopkeeper who allows him to buy traps, new weapons, fortresses to a when things get hairy, and improvements for everything. The goal is to survive long enough to repair your balloon and escape in as few days as possible. Run it every time you turn on it and tap the down arrow to get started but doing so leaves you unable to attack. Keep an eye on your health and endurance, as if the latter gets low enough, your accuracy will begin to degrade. Buy a sleeping fortress safely to get it back.
