The CE program gives members the opportunity to demonstrate their skills, knowledge and leadership skills at over 36 different health care related events and six recognition events. The CE program recognizes members for their excellence in competition at the state and international level. The top three competitors/teams from events in California qualify to compete in the ILC HOSA. HOSA's Competitive Events Program brings health career education to life through rigorous testing of the performance of knowledge, skills, and leadership skills aimed at developing, encouraging and recognizing the brightest future healthcare professionals. HOSA competitive events are divided into six (6) categories:Health Science EventsHealth ProfessionsEmergency Preparedness EventsLeadership EventsTeamwork EventsRecognition EventsHOSA members should believe in the competitive event program, not because of the awards to be received in the competition, but because of the feeling of achievement and confidence gained in preparing for the competition. HOSA does not provide competition for the benefit of the competition; more precisely, HOSA provides competitive event programs as a means to recognize students who are willing to pursue excellence by preparing for competitions and have the determination to attend conferences and demonstrate competencies gained through health science programs. Preparing Students for Competitive Event Members who are interested in the Competitive Events Program can follow these 10 steps in preparing the competition.
