The company had a team player attitude and knew how to gather to get things done. They have recently been growing at a rapid pace allowing for the possibility of overtime and cross-training. Great team player attitude. Lots of opportunities for overtime. Was this comment helpful? weak, dishonest management Promises made and never continued. Very poor management. They don't appreciate employees. The balance between work and life is not good. A very dishonest company that kept my clients' commissions and didn't pay me or the other advisors they took over from the company they bought for which I worked. Was this comment helpful? Very little time feel in one in a trying to be in a diverse world. Culture has made it hard to want to go to work everyday. This was much more of a job I had and did because it paid the bills. My direct manager was a nice person, but he didn't help me succeed in the company. The team I was in was also very standoffish. Flexible hours, correct breaks Very rigid dress code, although you never see a customer, no place for individuality Was this review useful? A bad job. High School Drama Worked in The Hills. Over work and under pay. No chance to advance or advance. Aggressive passive bosses who are friendly to your face. I wouldn't recommend them at all! You're not going anywhere fast. And the technology is from 1985. Run! Was this comment helpful? A wonderful place to work. Great benefits. Highly informed employees to help with customer accounts. Traveled to the east coast to provide 401(k) presentations to client employees, and help them with their investment ideas within their 401(k) Election Plan. Was this comment helpful? Provides a good package of benefits, and generous free time, before the concentrate is to confirm that our work performed the previous day traded correctly and is paying properly, receiving all new customer forms and evenly dividing the work between technicians, carefully managing the order in which they came in We evaluate any problems related to the forms and resolve any information or discrepancies missing between what is required and what is allowed in accordance with Irs Regulation and the rules of the plan. We carefully and methodically process each form. This sometimes involves communicating with our administrators, HR representatives from the various companies we serve, third-party administrators or the participant requesting distribution. We have a break in time for our processing, and once we finish processing, we will change our completed work with other technicians and audit each other's work. Once this is done, we will also process corrections, and manage monthly installments. The hardest part of the job is actually keep up with all the work that comes in, and managing at the end of the day corrections and work rates. This sometimes takes 10 to 11 hours - I was even known to work 12. The most enjoyable part of the job for me is detail and getting problems solved. I also like my colleagues. Always have more than enough work, the company often offers free lunches and treats, the company offers generous time off There is too much work for the amount of employees, often requires 10-12 hour days to keep up.
