Burning passion here and I came to you with a quick guide to reducing Aetherial and why, if you are a craftsman or collector, you should take full advantage of this system. First of all, what is in the name of twelve is the reduction of ether? Reducing Aetherial is the process of taking some specific collectibles and reducing them to elemental crystals, kits, and even valuable Aethersand! Note: Only certain assembly classes can use the Aetherial limit of certain items. Miner: Fire, Lightning Botanist: Wind, Fisher's Land: Water, Ice That's Great and Everything, But why should I limit Aetherial? Good guestion! I find that, using the reduction of Aetherial, you can actually get anywhere between 800-1000 crystals from one item within minutes! If you constantly get to a rarity of 2 or more (collect about 300+, iirc), you can also get around that many pools too. If you can get rare to 3 or more, which is used in a lot of recipes across all drafting categories, begins having a chance to appear once you get a rare to 5 or more. Finally, aethersand will show a specific pool if you manage to get a rare full 8/8! Aethersand for Fisher. Both of these are used to craft end-of-game drafting equipment! Crystal and nagour return sound completely crazy! How do I get into this? Well for starters, you have to get the collection to level 56 and talk to the National Press Council in Donna Moore to start a quest that will take you to Camp Motameis. Once there, another NPC will open the limit of Aetherial! Help! I can't use the limit of Aetherial on these collectibles I got! What am I doing wrong? Well this is itching not all collectibles can be disassembled under sensitivity reduction. Items obtained from ephemeral nodes or specific species of fish can be divided. You can get a full list of the ephemeral nodes here: and for fish, I've been trying to keep the theme on the very topic here: I would make a note here. The higher the level of collection, (Lv56/58/60), the more yield you get. So you should always focus on the highest level of aetherial reduction you can do and don't waste too much of the GP trying to get a high rarity on collecting a lower level. This strange meridian node only popped up once! Are you supposed to do that? Actually, there's a trick to get it. Several times in her window! First, when the frame opens, the ephemeral node becomes automatically visible. But once it's exhausted, it disappears. How you get it to respawn within the frame is to mark a node (start collecting in a node and then leave the node). Then, you will notice that most nodes are grouped into pairs of two. You will need to mark another node in a different pair for the one you just mark. Once you mark them both (or exhaust them both if that's what you want to do), the respawn node should continue to reposition this way until the window closes. pm #2 so if you get 4 items with 1 level 60 collection you get 4 items worth 50 crystals +? >>b/c that would be like, awesome: x If you want to get four levels 60 items with a rarity of 1/8, you will get anywhere between 40 and 65 per element crystals. If you are honest? Definitely try to get a rarity of at least 2/8 so you can just get many combos at the same time. 08-15-2015 09:56 pm #4 originally published by HakuroDK if you want to get four levels 60 items with a rarity of 1/8, you will get anywhere between 40 and 65 item crystals. If I'm honest? Definitely try to get a rarity of at least 2/8 so you can just get many combos at the same time. I just got 1.2k lightning crystals in 15 minutes RL &It;. &It; There are no need groups (just collecting what i lack chat), I was just hoping for a way to refill my crystals and I need edifying amounts of them for balloon material - thanks for the guide, my recruitment life has made a less painful way, they don't need to do hundreds of projects for crystals in 15 lq &; It There are no need groups (just collecting what chat lacks), I was just hoping for a way to refill my crystals and I need crazy amounts of them for balloon materials - thanks to the guide, my tenants have made way less painfull, they don't need to do hundreds of projects for crystals now ^^ thank you so much for the kind words and I'm glad you got such a high yield! This is the absolute, awesome power of the limit of Aetherial! 01-24-2016 04:45 am #6 how you get it to replant inside the frame is you can mark a node (start collecting in a knot and then leave the node). Then, you will notice that most nodes are grouped into pairs of two. You will need to mark another node in a different pair for the one you just mark. Once you can explained but the temporary node wont respawn. Do you know if something changed or maybe I'm just missing something lol 01-24-2016 09:25 am #7 the HW nodes spawn in three sets of two, and the meridian node as a group of one. That is, there are four groups, with seven nodes divided somewhat between them. If you do anything with one of those four groups, then go and touch (open without collecting, collect one item, or completely empty) one node from each of the other two sets and then reset the first. If it helps you think about it this way, the ARR was holding four sets of each one. Hit one knot, then a second, then the third, and the first will respawn. In HW, it only takes one set of counting as multiplying that group, although the other node group is associated with it. Last updated Roth Trailfinder; 01-24-2016 at 9:27 AM. 01-25-2016 08:31 AM This is for the expansion of new Shadowbringers only. You can also view the old heavens and stormblood nodes here the ephemeral nodes spawn for 4 hours. You can re-spawn them in that 4 hours, if you touch the knot of each of the 2 different knots surrounding them. Use of collector's glove: Items collector's glove: Items collected from the ephemeral nodes are used to reduce Aetherial. They turn into crystals, groups, and different types of Aethersand. The resulting crystals and combos are of the same type as they can be found directly on the node.
