In fact, that's pretty much what I've been doing for months. But playing Destiny 2 without fiery means losing a lot. For starters, most end game activities will be out of your reach. And more importantly, Destiny 2 is much more fun when played alongside other carers, whether it's to tackle the new Dungeon or simply grind out public events. I personally challenged myself to find a crew to play some Destiny 2 out, especially for trials (I need help!), raids, and a new dungeon. PS: If you're on a PC and want to play some fortunes together, hit me on Twitter! Whether you're also looking for Fireteam to play Destiny 2 on a regular basis, or just looking for Fireteam to solve specific problems, Discord is a great place for LFG (by the way, LFG is deciphered as Looking For Group). Why LFG is worth your time Playing online marauding shooter is by definition better with friends. But more importantly, it's sometimes a must: Most high-end activities in Destiny 2 don't have matchmaking. Shadowkeep's Garden of Salvation Raid This is a list of major activities that don't have matchmaking and therefore require you to assemble Fireteam: Raids: Raids are considered the best PVE content in the Dally. They are complex, fun, complex, and take place in some of the most memorable places in the Destiny 2 universe. Raids are also particularly difficult to organize because they are the activities of 6 people, requiring coordination, good communication and skill. And as an additional they reward you with powerful gear and fantasy fantasy Dungeons: They are like raids, but smaller (and require only 3-person Fireteam). If you are interested in dungeon prophecy, we have a guide to that. Osiris test: The equivalent of raids, but for PVP. The Test is PVP's most challenging activity in Destiny 2. It's a 3-man activity that will put you in front of the best players in the game. Needless to say, good communication is a must if you want remote chances of success. If you prefer to experience a competitive solo scene, freelance survival mode is a great option. Master and Grandmaster Nightfall: Trials and Nightmare Hunts: Both of these activities are among pinnacle's few sources in the game. Grandmaster Ordeals also received a buff award, making them more worthy of your time and effort. If you want to reach the maximum power level and find the best gear out there, these are mandatory weekly activities. And if you find them too hard, focus on earning XP and increasing the power level of the artifact first. Why discord? There are other LFG tools out there (we cover them below), but dedicated D2 Discord servers offer so many additional features out of the box: Multiple chat channels to talk about anything related to the fate of Rang's DM messaging voice channels and roles to differentiate console and PC players, locations, etc. the most popular Servers Destiny 2 LFG Discord Now that I convinced you to start working with LFG on Discord, these are some of the most popular Destiny 2 LFG servers on Discord: It's all in English, but if you're looking for international communities, we've looked at you in the section below. Destiny 2 LFG Discord International Servers These are some of the most popular international communities of LFG Discord dedicated to Destiny 2: I'm probably missing others, but if you're familiar with other good international Discord servers, let me know and happily add them to this page. Other LFG Discord techniques are a great method to find other guardians to play with, but to be fair, there are other tools out there. I cover some of the most prominent on my core resources page, but in a nutshell: Destiny 2 Companion App: For some reason Destiny 2 doesn't have a Fireteam finder in the game. Fortunately, this official companion app has a good LFG system (looking for a group), as well as an inventory manager and quest tracker. r/fireteams on Reddit: With close to 100,000 members, this SubReddit is one of the most engaged communities dedicated to helping you find people to play Destiny 2 with, whether it's to address complex content or farm something. The100.io: This is another great tool to help you find carers and schedule game sessions. It also includes a great free app. Hopefully with these resources, finding Fireteam will be much easier. On the Bungie Destiny website and in the app there are also groups which you can join.-Discords:Destiny 2 PC LFG discord (I highly recommend this for PC people): name Byf LFG (PS4, Xbox One, PC) discord: is LFG on the XboxOn PS4 dashboard, go to communities and enter the fate of lfgEdit: If I'm missing anything, then post your comments to let more people know. I'll try to add them to the OU. Ediiting 2: Yes, there should be optional matchmaking for all activities to call this game an open joint shooter of the world. It's not managed shit games, but I don't have control over that. Don't complain to me about it. Tell Bungie so they can fix it and implement matchmaking in all activities. Along with that should be chatting throughout the game as well. Only then can solo players be encouraged to do more group activities. Editing 3: When you're going and looking for an LFG message, avoid being toxic. I say go with posts that talk, looking for a cold run or say what's out there doing carries or making sherpa runs. Don't go with those who say you should be this KD or we don't want you if your inexperience. Just filter them out. I had both a good and bad experience in Destiny 1, but on PC mostly positive for Destiny 2.Page 2 66 comments comments
