Miraculous ladybug plagg x tikki

Comments Share This article needs to be updated. There are plenty of content, but there are some shortcomings. Especially from season 2 - 3. Please help Send Wiki by adding content to it. Once all content is updated, this template can be removed. Character Tikki Garment Non-binary 1 Plikki is the non-binary ship between Tikki and Garments from Miraculous Ladybug fandom. Canon This section needs major improvements. Please help improve this article by editing it. Tikki and Plagg are two Kwamis who know each other very well. They were original held together in the Miracle Box until the creation and destruction powers of their Ladybug and Cat Miraculoues were necessary and Kwamis was sent to two different people. Where their roles kept Kwamis separate, while not knowing that they and the proprietors of their miraculous, even when Marinette and Adrien do not use their powers like Ladybug and Cat Noir, are not always too far away from each other. Until Tikki and Plagg could meet face-to-face again in the Dark Owl, and for both to recharge their energy Tikki shares his macron with Garments. In Sandboy, the two Kwamis meet before making their way to Master Fu's place so that they and other Kwamis can celebrate Nooro'o's birthday before they began the ceremony that would have allowed them to find their lost friend, if it were not for Hawk Moth using the power of Butterfly Miraculous at the time. Before the two Kwamis realize that Hawk Moth has sent out another of his acumatzied villains, the two bond over their desire to find and rescue Nooroo on their way to the party inside the Miraculous Box. Where they catch up with their other Kwamis and have some fun, along with Plagg asking Tikki for a dance, but Tikki wasn't interested. Shortly after both Tikki and Plagg failed to talk their owners out of taking off their miraculous, although it would be for a short time in Reflekdoll, it allowed Tikki and Garments to spend once together in the trunk of the Agreste car. Where Marinette and Adrien's bags are stored. Garments are happy to have that time with Tikki, but the feeling was not the same at her end. When the two saw Reflekdoll, Tikki shares his concern with Garments who are still optimistic when looking after The Cat miraculously, while reassuring Tikki that they can still help their owners. However, because Reflekdoll's beam made everyone look the same, the two Kwamis had little choice but to switch owners to the end of the match. In Kwambuster, Plagg's stomach gets both Kwamis in trouble when Tikki noticed that Garments leave the owner's side and follow him to the trap that had been set by the owner's nature teacher, who wants to reveal Kami's existence to the world. When Marinette and Adrien realized this, Kwamis knew they were in trouble and wouldn't let them know that Ladybug and Cat Noir were in the same building as Kwamis. Tikki and Plagg talk about it on the roof of Marinette's house, where Plagg tells Tikki that there is nothing for them to worry about while Tikki is angry with Garments for what had happened to them. Kwamis later found himself to be the main targets of the title Acumatized villain, which busts them straight out of their owners. With the power of Mouse miraculous and the help of Tikki and Garments' fellow Kwamis, Marinette is able to save them by merging their powers with Mouse Miraculous.
