Getty Images Whether you're shopping online or in a store, here's what you need to know before you buy any piece of furniture. Our editors independently research, test and recommend the best products; you can find out more about our review process here. We may receive commissions for purchases from our chosen links. The task of decorating your home with furniture purchased online can feel incredibly risky. When you can't get comfortable in an recluse or get horizontally on a mattress in person, how can you be sure it's the one but it's not as hard as you think. With your measuring tape next to you and a few simple tips for buying furniture online, shopping online isn't sweat. In fact, we are as easy as possible with this list of our best online shopping furniture stores. From craft boutiques you've never seen to that trendy store you didn't realize was selling furniture, these online furniture stores have everything you need for the ultimate home makeover. Courtesy of the article article brings showstopping designs without a high price. Get that trend, a couch in toned gems that you've been daydreaming about at a price you can afford. Additionally, the article offers free shipping on orders over $999. As they work directly to the consumer, they can immediately reduce these added zeros. CB2 If Crate & Barrel is a sophisticated woman, CB2 is her cool little sister. Sift through a stunning marble coffee table, supple leather seats and artistic bodies until you find the perfect match for a fraction of what you pay at most top furniture retailers. Courtesy of Lulu and Georgia Hand-picked by interior design experts in Los Angeles, Lulu and Georgia, is your go-to for contemporary style at an affordable price. Their pieces often exclusive to them, so you know you're taking something special. Buy something you want anyway as they tend to sell out. Courtesy of IKEA We will never love a good IKEA finding. We even used to go down the rabbit hole of a refurbished IKEA product before and after - those chic-to-death IKEA hacks are borderline geniuses. But hack aside, the truth is that sometimes it hits the spot for those minimal fundamentals that won't break the bank. Courtesy of Serena & Lily An excellent online resource for classic home furnishings and accessories, Serena & Lily always has something to fall in love with. From small statement items to larger pieces of furniture that will withstand trends, at the very least it is worthy of the label for the ultimate California casual style. Courtesy of Amazon What don't we buy on Amazon these days? Everything from our toilet paper to our best home decoration comes from our Prime account (2-day delivery has adhesion us). When you're looking mid-century modern takes on things like sitting, bar carts, and more, that's your go-to. Amazon's rivet line is worth checking out for midcentury, industrial style décor. Courtesy of Zara Home Just like their fashion vertical, Zara Home is undeniably good. They just have that way of knowing exactly what we want before us and for a very friendly price. Looking to spruce up a space that feels dated? Throw a few of your décor pieces in the stroller and you'll be surprised how soon your home will feel as new. Courtesy of Urban Outfitters When searching the web for those eclectic accent pieces, we always end up in the depths of the home part of UO. Rich colors, appropriately placed lobes – never schedule when adding a bottle of bohemian to our space. Besides, their candles smell ridiculously good. Courtesy of Citizen Citizen believes your home should be an extension of your journey, and we couldn't agree more. They partner with local craftsmen around the world to create a global marketplace that you can buy directly from the comfort of your couch. Their home goods from a craft source will add a unique touch to any space. Thanks to the Super Marche Shop that comes from the flea market of California to France, Super Marché is a collection of unforgettable unique pieces. Everything from crockery to antique designer pieces, you'll want to scrape off your current décor vibe and start again. Hey, it's cheaper than a ticket to Paris. Courtesy of West Elma Always nailing our favorite indoor looks, West Elm is the perfect one-stop shop for all things at home. Their simple designs pair well with almost everything, not hurting to have great sales. Sign up for your emails so you'll be the first to know when they're cutting their prices. Courtesy chairish chairish is a collectible happy place. The brand is a kind of virtual flea market, where antiques are perfectly curated and approved by the Chairish team to meet your craziest décor standards. This is a great resource when looking for unorthodox vintage art or original furniture that you won't find anywhere else. Courtesy of Anthropologie we already love Anthropologie's bohemian, feminine clothes, but their furniture? I absolutely can't miss. Of course, babes may not be the cheapest buy of your life, but we think timeless styles pay off. Think of it as an investment in your own space. Courtesy of One Kings Lane One Kings Lane is one of those places we can always trust to give us a dose of interior design inspiration. With everything from mid-century modern sofas to shabby chic bedside tables, it's a one-stop shop for basically every style. Courtesy of Muji In a perfect world where we could live a minimalist lifestyle (without discerning the wardrobes from all our precious memories), it would look something like Muji's website every day. The Japanese company sells small space designs with sharp lines and absolute simplicity. Courtesy of Maiden Home We like to think of Maiden Home as Warby Parker furniture, their direct-to-consumer modeling ensures you can get custom, handmade pieces at a fraction of the price. In addition, the brand offers a lifetime guarantee - they are so sure that their furniture is made to last. Courtesy Design Within Reach Name says it all. Design Within Reach creates authentic, modern designs with accessibility. Unlike some designers who took months to order a piece of furniture, DWR ensures you get exactly what you're looking for. Courtesy of Burrow If you're the type of person who dreads assembling furniture, consider Burrow your lifeguard. The brand specializes in seating, which can be clicked on the place in a few minutes – seriously! And the best part is that you can add to the modular system when your needs and your space are growing. Courtesy of Medley Home Concerned about deeds or potentially harmful materials? The answer is environmentally friendly furniture. Medley uses toxin-free and retardant-free materials to make furniture that is tailored to your unique space. Courtesy of Apt2B Just because you are renting an apartment does not mean that you can not decorate it as a three-bedroom house. Apt2B's sophisticated furniture looks like something you'd find sprinkled in fancy New York salons, but all in one digital space. Courtesy of Sixpenny with so much haute couture, trendy designs, it can be easy to forget about the one thing that matters most with furniture: comfort. After all, you will spend most of your time sitting on the couch or lying on the bed. With Sixpenny, you'll get the best of both worlds – trendy designs that are incredibly enjoyable. Courtesy of Lawson Fenning Lawson-Fenning's avocado toast retailers furniture: trendy, fresh and completely Cali. But SoCal-inspired designs are more than just Look. Brand champion artists and creators to create exclusive pieces you can't get anywhere else. All this is constantly changing, so you can make the site part of your morning ritual. Midcentury is a modern trend that remains consistently in demand. Full of architectural appeal and nostalgic, handsome detail, it's an aesthetic that's timeless and sophisticated. Due to its perennial popularity, it is actually very easy to find both unique vintage pieces and contemporary reproductions to fill your home with furniture from that era. You just have to know where to look. You can spend the day wandering through a flea market or thrift store in the hope of finding a seriously unique item from the past, or you can visit online vintage treasures like Chairish and 1stDibs. If you want to find a new item inspired by the 1,000th period, there are countless retailers. Whether you're looking for big tickets like couches and armoires or hoping to score smaller pieces like mirrors and end tables, these are places to know. France and Son is a modern design meale for reproductions and contemporary works alike is our de facto resource for beautiful, affordable design. His impressive collection of Serge Mouille light reproductions is a dream in itself.
