Daiwa fishing reel parts uk

See the full version: daiwa spare parts!!! Grrr!!! Italy28-01-2011, 10:35am from the daiwa website. You can expect a friendly and helpful voice during a phone call. We try to deal with all inquiries quickly, but sometimes we may take the time to get a solution. Remember, this is because we try harder. Reel spare parts Yes every drawer you see is full of reel parts. We can keep the reel in operation for a long time, and the parts are stored for at least five years after the reel has stopped working. Just called them and a new reel holder for my infinity will cost £32.50 and wont be in stock until the end of April!!! Low-speed, efficient operation! Anyone else had problems or know where I can get one a bit sharper? Cheers Carp-Hunter-7728-01-2011, 11:13am from the daiwa website. You can expect a friendly and helpful voice during a phone call. Cheers we should all start using middle pins!! tuffylover28-01-2011, 12:58imo Daiwa worst customer service ever, naughty and dear Carp-Hunter-7728-01-2011, 13:03imo Daiwa have the worst customer service ever, rude and expensive? maybe it's you or how you approached them. why where ruude and what you can find expensive about them only other companies know that daiwa service is tackle box and they are double the price imo Daiwa have the worst customer service ever, naughty and expensive agreed. I I bang on about it and go into a long wind story, but I had an epic nightmare of time dealing with Diawa spare parts. It was about 10 years ago, but the episode was a joke. I think it took 8 months, 2 phone calls, 3 letters and reposting items back and forth before it was cleared. Madness lol. Sorry mate I had to have the last one! came the next day but expensive at £32.50... fishmaster28-01-2011, 20:36always had good service with daiwa, you have to catch them on a bad day, now shimano are slow and rude, (and Welsh) jdgeary128-01-2011, 20:50It is very slow and very expensive. It took me 5 months to get some parts into my ISO, which were basically small items that eventually cost me £80. I have a price for a new ISO handle, £90, £90 for a handle for the Good God! Always find Diawa & Shimano to be more than helpful!! DaveBarratt28-01-2011, 23:14No impressed H.O Daiwa himself. The general attitude of employees seems to be weak, very slow, do not return calls and do not seem to give a cushion about customer service. That being said, I did fare better once I insisted on talking to Steve McAveney. DecoyBoy28-01-2011, 23:58I'm going to make them great, they didn't have the parts supplies I was looking for, so they dismantled the new reel and had a part of me too in 4 days.. Italy29-01-2011, 00:52Seems more negative than positive reviews at the moment! sparkyon31-01-2011, 18:54always had good service with daiwa, you have to catch them on a bad day, now shimano are slow and rude, (and Welsh) you have to catch them for good days, I have a thread somewhere about my last daiwa experience, 3 months to handle 3 reels and they came back with anti reverse not working everything I had was an attitude about them taking them back to repair, the woman said she must have a bump in transit , well if that's all I need to break 6000t then I don't buy daiwa again , I bought some ss2600 and now sold both sets of drums and bought some shimano ultegra 14000 xtb instead, as all I've heard is good stuff about them, and oi whats wrong with the Welsh people??? :nono2: :lol: I used the Service Daiwa spare parts twice. Both times were excellent. I broke the tip section on my Trevs built Infinity X rod. You've knocked me down wiv fever, wise Trevor. £35 posted. I expected you to have to pay a hundred quid at least. Plus I was afraid they would send me a Daiwa built blank which is diff color but not. They were Bob on. Another time I asked Brian Skoyles on the Carp Show if he would try and learn the story of my old S55000 drums. The next time I went to the factory he did just that and then he called me to pass on the information. Then he took me on a romantic date, won and ate me, gave me a lift home and never even tried to bypass 1 base. Competent But speak as it turns out. GENERAL31-01-2011, 20:20The smallest customer service around are joking after my reels on my windcast. No fit I wanted 3 marchers to get their snotty Scottish waffle down to me Daiwa are a joke the company will never use again now sold windcast and got Shimano tech mags ;) never again will I use, buy or recommend Daiwa Total arsehole lol company, £32.... they wanted £20 last year for a new handle when I sent my Infinity to service... I said no thanks and that's just because the bouncy bit doesn't work, lol Jess Collins03-02-2011, 16:10my mate sent his 6000 t off to be serviced some time ago took ages to come back and anti revers e wased on one of them hes in the process of trying to sort them out... have now sent it 3 windcasts out for use in the meantime, but the time he's been waiting to get em sorted is not funny not good from big name like daiwa andyboy21uk03-02-2011, 21:34daiwa customer service is shocking!!! made numerous emails/phones and still no answer! feel like taking my new basiairs back to the store and telling them where to stick em..... Get me a part number, and mische check if I can get the parts for you. I know that the difference in the price of parts in Japan and parts in the UK is nothing short of shocking. Something like £50 for a handle in the UK, £9 from Japan. Powered by vBulletin® Version 4.2.2 Copyright © 2021 vBulletin Solutions, Inc. All rights reserved.
