Original Title: Aztec Autumn Editorial: Planet of the Year Publishing: 2003 (1998) Translation: Sofia Coca and Roger Vazquez de Parga Topics: Historic Mean Note: 7/10 (6 Votes) This book has not yet been reviewed Born in Buena Vista, Va., Gary Jennings worked as an executive account in advertising and as editor-in-chief of Dude and Gent magazines before becoming a full-time writer. His early works were written for young people, but since then he has become well known as a writer of widely researched, epic historical fiction. Jennings immersed himself in the culture of the time and the terrain to get a background for his novels. Before writing the Aztec book (1980), Jennings lived in Mexico for 12 years and studied the Nahuatl language. The popularity of this novel led to a sequel, Aztec Autumn (1997). To give depth and flavor to his novel The Traveller (1984), Jennings followed the route to China, sometimes traveling on a camel or elephant in the manner of Marco Polo.
