Our editors independently research, test, and recommend the best products; you can learn more about our review process here. We may receive commissions on purchases made from our selected links. Westend61/Getty Images Rustic-chic vibes are strong at Francis Ford Coppola's popular Belizean hideaway, the perfect seaside spot for the honeymoon. With 28 individual cottages-starting at $329/night-clad in lots of local wood, thatched roofs, Balinese furniture, earthy tones, and beautiful fabrics, it's intimate but includes everything one might wish for. Sparkling blue Caribbean is the focal point, especially from the triangular infinity pool (there's a second pool on the lawn at the sandy Laughing Fish bar). And the resort is complete with padf diving shop because snorkeling and diving are popular entertainment here especially thanks to the world's second largest coral reef system and whale sharks visiting April through June each year. There are three distinctive restaurants: Mare for Classic Italian with performances by Mariachi bands and Garifuna dancers, seafood on the beach at Gauquin Grill, and traditional Belizean with Luba's aunt. However, it is not the only indulgence, because guests can also visit the jaguar, look at the ancient Mayan architecture, zipline and horseback riding through the orchards. Marriott Puerto Vallarta Resort & Spa, Mexico There is no doubt that just one day in this renovated and redesigned resort will leave you to forget about any stress around the wedding. Ohtli Spa will see that with its transformative treatments inspired by the ancient traditions of Huichol-like super-relaxing Rebirth therapy sessions performed in the pool. There's also Puerto Vallarta's largest infinity pool, complete with swim-up bar that pairs your piña colodas with the 180-degree panoramas of Banderas Bay and the surrounding mountains. Many dining establishments (there are seven in total) include Nosh, perfect for sunset bites; Las Casitas, where lobster tacos are a must-order; and Mikado, for table teppanyaki. Many activities are on offer around the resort when not ensconced in your bright, beach room with balcony (from $129/night)--from learning the art of sipping tequila to kayaking, volleyball and attending baby turtle release ceremonies (June to November). The ultimate excursion is the Marietas Islands, specifically Playa del Amor (lovers' beach), a secret place accessible by swimming or kayaking through a 40-foot tunnel to a hidden beach and shimmering blue lagoon. Queen Kapiolani Hotel, Hawaii It doesn't get more iconic Hawaii than Diamond Head and Waikiki Beach, which are in view from this four-star retro-styled beach retreat. In fact, its white sands and turquoise waves are within tripping distance of the recently renovated hotel, whose design is a return to glory old Waikiki, while the equipment feel perfectly modern. This is best evidenced in 315 rooms and suites--each with a personal rope and cool pastel palette. There's an on-site surf school for those whose honeymoon destinations are to hang ten (or simply stand on top of waves), sunrise yoga, running a club, cocktail-mixing classes, lei-making, and ukulele workshops, plus a primo collection of vintage mid-century art celebrating the classic Hawaiian lifestyle. Modern American restaurant DECK offers up the main views alongside steaks and local catch (room service is also available), but Waikiki's restaurants, nightlife, and shopping are within walking distance, too. Want to stretch your dollar abroad? Try Australia, specifically a spectacularly beautiful stretch of long, sandy beach known as Surfers Paradise on the Gold Coast. This pool-studded resort is as varied as the ocean's blue, with vibrant splashes across the elegant 297 rooms and slippery bathrooms (from $110/night). Not only is this a destination epic for surfers, but it's also got some of the best humpback whale watching (in Hervey Bay) in the country, as well as waterfall trips in nearby national parks. Five concept restaurants include an innovative izakaya restaurant with ultra-fresh sushi and sashimi, while the hotel also claims one of the area's top hangouts, the Stingray Lounge, resident DJ and coastal-inspired cocktails to maintain high energy levels. When surfing, hiking and possibly playing muscle tennis, book it at spaQ for Suite Retreat, a pair massage using jojoba oil. Avila Beach Hotel, Curaçao If it's good enough for dutch royals, it should be good enough for you. Curaçao's oldest operating hotel, built in the 1780s, is vintage, yes, but it's modernized, especially with just-renovated rooms in the Blues Wing, where views are king (tip: they're built on a pier off a private beach for incredible Caribbean access). The setting is flawless: white sand and cyan water worthy, which could be an instagram heartthrob. The infinity pool is nice enough to compete with its environment, even in both open-air restaurants serving local specialties such as keshi yena (stuffed cheeses). Also on offer: four bars, a fitness center, romantic beach dinners, and especially gracious hospitality by local staff who actually remember your names, making the atmosphere even more gorgeous (from $234/night). Playa Largo Resort & Spa, Florida You don't have to go far to get into the Caribbean spirit. 14.5 Secluded acres of tropical landscape at Key Largo do the trick, too. This lush resort offers a super-private hotel-in-a-hotel concept called Hammocks, with 10 two-story private bungalows hidden among a rare hammock of trees, not to mention quite a personal service across the board. Romantic include a Chiminea package that comes with s'mores, blankets and a fire butler to build your beachside bonfire. The main resort is packed with amenities such as a zero-water swimming pool, a private beach, a fishing port and all kinds of water sports, and an ocean spa for couples' massages. There's dockside dining, plus a new experience called Water Table in Sol by the Sea, give lovebirds the chance to enjoy the sunset along with their seafood toes in the sand (from $282/night). Grand Cayman Marriott Beach Resort, Cayman Islands It's hard to imagine a more postcard-worthy setting than Grand Cayman Island's Seven Mile Beach, its powdery white sand and electric crystalline Caribbean waters putting newlyweds under its spell. Of course, there are seemingly endless ways to get it: snorkeling, splashing around with stingrays, paddleboarding, jet-skiing, kayaking, sailing, water skiing, and even fly fishing--not to mention the beachfront pool. In addition, couples can opt for cycling and hiking. There are four restaurants on the property, including one with a raw bar and craft cocktails, plus a slew of other dining options in the capital George Town nearby. Quiet rooms with plisan beds and coastal touches are the perfect place to relax (from $350/night), although botany union baths can't be defeated when it comes to achieving the highest bliss. The only bummer about Los Cabos is that most beaches are too rough to swim, but not a sandy stretch of sea cortex in front of this resort. The multi-million dollar renovation included a full renovation at its Beach Club, now equipped with reef cabanas and a full bar. 375 elegant rooms (from $330/night) keep on a suitable blue and white theme, with whimsical murals and ocean views from each; The most appealing for newlyweds are certainly 14 with private plunge pools, however. Otherwise, couples can enjoy the adults-only infinity pool within easy reach of the main event, the beaches where standup paddleboards and other ocean-going exploration vessels are available. Day and night, tuck into a feast of all styles on six unique culinary concepts. A holiday wouldn't be complete without couples' treatment at the spa. JW Marriott Phuket Resort & Spa Yes, it's a trek, but flight deals to Thailand are had all the time, putting this Phuket getaway comfortably at your fingertips. Enter another world, one next to the pristine mai khao beach on the iconic resort island. Each of southeast Asian-inspired 262 rooms (from $260/night)-including 12 suites-facing turquoise Andaman Sea, both warm and appealing. There is no shortage of pool space in the lounge (there are three, and they are huge!) for those moments of surfing, kayaking and sailing are not an appeal. And also more than enough food establishments to keep you saturated. Eleven Restaurants and bars serve virtually anything you can imagine (think wood-fired pizzas, sashimi and Angus steak), and there's also a Thai cookery school so you and your honey can learn the skills to bring your honeymoon home. The Mandara Spa offers everything from massages to body scrubs, healing baths and faces, and is a guaranteed great way to end a long day in the sun. And that means we have sand on the brain as we plan our annual Beach Travel Special Report. This year we are turning to you! We'd like to know: What's your favorite beach? We'll show you the best answers in the upcoming article. Participation can be a mini-vacation all on its own. Just close your eyes for a moment and think about all the beaches (oceans, lakes, even rivers are fair game) that you've passed along and lounge on. Soak in the sun, sand, and the sound of lapping (or crashing) waves. After returning from your mental escape, share details and a quick description of your favorite beach or beach. Send us your favorite beach picks through this online submission form (you will be briefly redirected to other sites) by January 5th. Please give a lot of information on why you love each beach, but keep your records at 250 words or less. This way we will be able to feature more reader favorites. We will collect stories and publish the best as part of our Beach Travel Special Report, coming your way on January 12th. Thanks! We can't wait to delve into your suggestions. We select everything we recommend and select items through testing and reviews. Some products are sent to us for free with no incentive to offer a favorable review. We offer our unbiased opinions and do not accept a refund for product reviews. All items are in stock and prices are accurate at the time of publication.
