Directions & Information for Meteorological Disasters Maui Civil Defense/Evacuation(808) 986-1200 or (808) 270-7285 Emergency Alert System (EAS) is the official source of information and emergency instructions. This information comes from county emergency operating centers, as well as state and federal partners. If the Statewide Outdoor Warning Sirens sounds (which are tested at the beginning of the month), turn on the ON TV or radio. All radio stations have voluntarily agreed to participate in The EAS. In the event of a power outage, some stations are equipped with the generator's backup power and will continue to remain in the air. Stay at these stations for more information and instructions. Take the necessary safeguards as instructed and stay on the radio for additional updates. During an emergency, a battery, manual crank or solar-powered radio will be the main source of information. If you are using a battery-powered, make sure you have enough batteries to operate the radio for at least 24 hours. Information on emergency management will also be available on television and a major power outage, the power utility company will provide power restoration updates to EAS. The owner/management company are not required by law to provide radios, flashlights, batteries, etc. Definitions of Terms & SignalsTropical Depression - A low pressure or cyclone system with sustained winds of less than 39 miles per hour (mph). Tropical Storm - A cyclone where winds range from 39 to 73 mph. Hurricane - Hurricane season runs from June 1 to November 30 each year. A tropical cyclone with winds of 74 mph or more. Torrential rains, destructive waves and high waters known as storm waves can create flooding conditions in coastal and low-lying areas. More lives are claimed by storm waves and floods in most of the world than by hurricane winds. When a tropical depression is formed, NWS issues a number of recommendations, including clocks and warnings, based on the strength and position of an approaching storm. Earthquakes - There is no earthquake season. Earthquakes are a year-round threat, 24 hours a day and danger to all The Hawaiian Islands. Earthquakes strike suddenly, without warning, and can occur at any time of the year, day or night. We instruct you that in the event of an earthquake to get under a sturdy piece of furniture and hold on. It will help you shelter from falling objects that could injure you during an earthquake. Earthquakes can cause an immediate tsunami without warning time, we advise you to grab what you can quickly and evacuate to the higher ASAP ground. Tsunamis - There is no tsunami season. Tsunamis are a year-round threat and danger, 24 hours a day, to all areas on the coast of Hawai'i. A tsunami warning is issued by the Pacific Tsunami Warning Center when a potential tsunami with large-scale significant flooding is imminent or expected. Warnings warn the public that dangerous and widespread coastal flooding is possible, accompanied by strong currents, and may continue for several hours after the initial wave arrives. Issued when a local earthquake with the potential to create a tsunami occurred; and the Pacific Tsunami Warning Center has determined that harmful waves are likely. Sirens and other notification systems will ring immediately, as the travel time of the waves can be up to 10-20 minutes. People in the tsunami evacuation zone should evacuate immediately. When a remote tsunami warning is issued, the evacuation sirens will ring. Tsunami Refuge Center locations will be broadcast via TV, radio or NWR. You need to bring all your disaster supplies to the center. If we are faced with an evacuation due to of the natural disasters listed, we recommend that you quickly pack your personal belongings, food, water, any flashlights or candles that you can find in your condominium (owner/management company is not required by law to provide on behalf of customers), and and phone book. Each telephone book lists a disaster preparedness guide and an escape map for each location of the island and where there is a safe area. If time permits, please disconnect all electrical outlets; Fill all bathtubs with water (if there is no running water), and gas up your vehicle. In case of emergency, the information will be provided on our website at www.westmauicondos.com, an emergency text message will be generated and sent to the contact number you have provided to us, and our staff will do their best to be able to be contacted at our office (808) 667-7088 to help in any way we can.
