Verizon stolen phone deductible

Is the Verizon insurance plan a good deal? The following details how much Verizon Device Protection costs, what it covers, what it doesn't cover, and how it stacks up in other options so you can decide if your Verizon insurance plan is a good purchase for you. Phone to sell? Find Trade In & Cash Value »What does Verizon insurance cover and how much does it cost? Verizon offers five levels of insurance, and coverage depends on the level you select. The first three levels all offer coverage for manufacturer defects, accidental damage, theft, and loss. They are identical, except for additional advantages and price. VERIZON PROTECTTOTAL MOBILE PROTECTION TOTAL EQUIPMENT COVERAGEMONTHLY PREMIUM $14 - $17$12 - $15$7 - $11COVERSMalfunctions, accidental damage (including cracked screens & water damage), loss & theftOne of each accessory included: battery, home charger, car charger, case, earphonesMalfunctions, accidental damage (including cracked screens & water damage), loss & theftOne of each accessory included: battery, home charger, car charger, case, earphoneSDOES NOT COVERDefects/damage from normal wear & tear, misuse, accidents/neglect, altered phones, phones with removed label or illegible serial numbers, damage to spills or immersion in food or liquidsDefects/damage from normal & tear & misuse, accidents/neglect, altered phones, phones with removed label or illegible serial numbers, damage to spills or immersion in food or liquidsDefects/damage from normal & tear & misuse, accidents/neglect, altered phones, phones labeled removed or serial numbers unreadable, damage due to spills or dives into food or liquidMALFUNCTIONING DEDUCTIBLE PHONE $0 $0ACCIDENTIAL DEDUCTIBLE DAMAGES $9 - $249 $29 screen repair $9 - $249$29 screen repair $9 - $249$29 screen repairLODSTRUCTION OR DEDUCTIBLE THEFT $9 - $249$9 - $249 LIMIT LIABILITY CLAUSES3 within 12 months3 within 1 2 months3 within 12 monthsAdding additional servicesVerizon Tech CoachVPN Safe Wi-FiDigital Secure Package Anivirus/anti-malware AppPrivacy Web Security Wi-Fi Security System CheckIdentity Theft Protection Cyber Media Monitoring Lost Wallet Guidance Full Restoration SupportVerizon Tech Coachn/aThe next two levels differ in that wireless phone protection covers accidental damage, theft and loss but not manufacturer defects, while the extended warranty only covers the manufacturer's defects. It does not cover batteries and accessories or lost, stolen or damaged phones. The plan costs $5/month and there is no deductible or maximum number of complaints. Wireless phone protectionWireless phone protection covers lost, stolen, and damaged phones, including cracked screens and water damage. It does not cover manufacturing defects after the expiry of the original warranty. Read the fine print and you will also see that the plan does not cover defects or damage from normal wear or misuse, accidents or negligence, phones that have been altered or modified, phones with removed labels or unreadable serial numbers or damage due to spills or dives into food or liquids. Phone insurance: Is it worth it or wasting money? The plan comes with unlimited cracked screen repairs for $29. Otherwise, it is limited to 3 phone replacements or repairs over a 12-month period. Deductibles vary by model, from $9 for base phones to $249 for the latest flagships. The price is $3.10/month for tier 2 and $6.85/month for Tier 1 smartphones. Total equipment coverageThe total coverage of the equipment combines wireless phone protection with an extended warranty, so that it covers lost, stolen and damaged phones and manufacturing defects after the original warranty expires. The coverage restrictions are the same as the wireless phone's protection plan. Deductibles range from $9 to $249, depending on the model, though most phones are eligible for unlimited screen replacements for $29 each. All other repairs are limited to 3 instances over a 12-month period. The plan costs $7/month for Level 2 phones and $11/month for Level 1 phones. Total Mobile ProtectionVery mobile protection is the same as total equipment coverage with an added benefit: access to a Verizon Tech Coach. The price is $12/month for Level 2 phones and $15/month for level 1 pones. If you have multiple phones on the same floor, you can opt for Total Mobile Protection Multi-Device. The cost is $45/month for up to 3 lines. You can add up to 7 rows for $11/month per line. In addition to the price, the main difference is that you can have up to 9 complaints shared over a 12-month period (add 3 complaints per additional line). Verizon also offers a Multi-Device Total Mobile Protection enterprise tier, with prices based on the total number of lines: $45/month for lines 3 to 10, $129/month for lines 11 to 24 and and 25 to 49 lines. Verizon ProtectVerizon Protect offers the same coverage as Total Mobile Protection, but adds security and privacy features such as antivirus/anti-malware software, website/WiFi threat detection, and system root controls. It also includes protection against identity theft such as computer monitoring, social media monitoring, and lost wallet guidance. Another advantage is Call Filter, which identifies unknown numbers and blocks spam calls. The price is $14/month for Level 2 phones and $17/month for Level 1 phones. Verizon Protect Multi-Device is also available. The plan costs $50/month for up to 3 lines, with the option to add up to 7 additional lines for $11/month each. Is the Verizon program a good deal? See the analysist was worth verizon insurance? Verizon insurance can be a good option if you're inclined to break or lose your phone, but you may not need additional benefits like technical support and identify theft protection provided by Verizon Protect or Total Mobile Protection. As you can see in the chart below, Total Equipment Coverage offers the same deductibles as the most expensive plans at a lower cost. For an iPhone 11, AppleCare+ with Theft & Loss offers a similar, steal-deductible premium, but cheaper deductible damage (though AppleCare is only good for two years, while Verizon insurance is good for as long as you pay monthly premiums). Worth Avenue Group is even cheaper, with a $150 premium and a $50 deductible for all complaints. It also applies worth assessing the potential costs of going without insurance. For example, if you pay for total Verizon equipment coverage for two years and have a non-screen damage claim, the total cost will be $363. Apple's repair cost is $399, just $36 more. Alternatively, you could sell your iPhone in broken conditions and put the money towards the latest model. Sell a phone? Find what it's worth »Ultimately, it depends on how much willing to risk your phone not being broken, lost or stolen.
