If you're looking for a compact, lightweight cleanser that offers improved handling, allowing you to get into all those hard-to-access cracks, look no further than Shark's cordless collection. Shark vacuum cleaners like the ingenious IF250 offer wireless cleaning convenience without sacrificing the suction power you need to keep your home spotless. Shark vacuum cleaners like the IF250 transform from a strut into a handheld at the touch of a button, you can enjoy effortless cleaning of stairs, upholstery and your car. And the innovative flexibility doesn't end there: DuoClean technology allows you to slide from carpets to hard floors without the need to change your head. Two rolls of unique brushes offer triple particle cleaning to juxtapose large particles, small particles along edges and cracks, and remove the annoying blocked dust. Additional flexibility comes thanks to the flexi-wand of the IF250, which bends at the touch of a button, allowing you to access all those hard-to-reach corners and cracks. You'll also find that you can get under the furniture with remarkably little effort. And you don't have to worry that the battery conceived in half clean, the IF250 is equipped with two lithium-ion batteries that together offer 44 minutes of cleaning. And since there are two you can have one charge while the other is in use. Explore our comprehensive collection of floors to browse a wide range of cordless vacuum cleaners from all leading brands. You'll find all the latest Dyson, Bosch, Honey and Hoover vacuum cleaners, including vacuum cleaners suitable for every home, lifestyle, and budget. Back to top There are a wide variety of Shark vacuum cleaners to choose from, all with different features and accessories, which means it can quickly confused when trying to figure out which ones are worth buying and the best value for money. We reveal which Shark vacuum cleaners have worked best in our independent vacuum tests, how reliable they are and how to make sense of the prices and variations of the model and find the Shark void for you at the best price. Are shark vacuum cleaners good? We tested most of the Shark range and discovered some large voids, although others didn't prove so impressive. In addition to cleaning performance, which shark is right for you depends on the size of your home, your budget, and the type of surfaces you need to clean. Cable models are generally cheaper than cordless - around £250 or less. Most Shark cordless vacuum cleaners are around £350.You can compare the full range and find the best for you with our independent shark vacuum cleaner reviews and Shark wireless vacuum reviews. Shark vs rivals: what characteristics distinguish it? Tiptoeing with big competitors like Dyson, Samsung, and Miele, Shark vacuum cleaners tend to have features that attract attention: Duoclean technology – all the latest Shark vacuum cleaners have two counter-rotating brush bars in the head of the main floor. This is becoming more common and is said to help capture larger debris and fine dust on different floor surfaces. Flexology - this is a flexible hinge integrated into the cleaning hose that will fold so you can reach under the furniture (and bend the vac over for easier storage). Dyson recently began to include a Reach under tool attack with its cordless void to compete with this feature. Lift-Away - allows you to detach and lift the dust container to facilitate cleaning of areas such as stairs or high places with the flexible cleaning hose. LED headlights: You'll be surprised at how many extra pieces of dirt and debris you'll see during the vacuum cleaner with LED headlights on the floor headboard. Many cheaper competitors have this feature, although Dyson doesn't. Anti Hair Wrap - this handy feature uses a comb on the back of the floor head to pull the hair out of the brush bar during use and send it into the dust container - helping you avoid a tangled brush bar (which reduces suction and is a hassle to clean). Five-year warranty: Most vacuum cleaners are with a one- or two-year warranty, but Shark has a market-leading five-year warranty, even on its cordless models. Attractive selling prices - Shark vacuum prices can skip a bit, but when the good deals are on they can be really very cheap. Some cost less than £150 when they're on sale, so be sure to shop for the best deals to make sure you don't miss out. Shark vs Dyson - get the least on how rival vacuum brands compareHow to get the best deal on an empty shark Shark prices often of hundreds of pounds. We found that older models can sometimes cost more than newer ones, and entry-level models can be on sale at a higher price than the pet version, despite having fewer accessories. To help you get the best price, we've gathered historical price data for the Shark range. Most are plug-in models, but some are cordless. Shark slim stick vacuum cleaner - Thin and light vacuum cleaners with the motor in the floor head or in a portable unit. It can be corded or cordless. You may also see Shark vacuum cleaners labeled as: TruePet - Includes a mini pet turbo tool for cleaning sofas, stairs etc. Plus/XL - Plus models have a slightly wider headboard, which can be appeal if you have large areas to cover in your home. XL versions have both a larger floor head and increased dust capacity, so you can cover large spaces without the need to empty the container all the time. Shark model codes explainedA thing to look for when browsing Shark ranges are the letters at the end of the model code. This helps indicate what you get. It ends with an H- extra filtration technology for allergy sufferers. Ends with UKBT - additional replacement battery included (two batteries in total). Finish with UKT - comes with a mini pet turbo tool. Finish with UKTT - comes with backup battery and mini pet turbo tool. Ends with UKTDB - comes with three batteries and mini pet turbo tool. For cordless shark stick vacuum cleaners, it works slightly differently: the IZ201 models are available with a single battery. IZ251 models are available with more than one battery (usually two). The IZ251UKTDB is equipped with three batteries. The best cordless vacuum cleaners - see our best cordless choices, including the best cheaper alternatives Shark vacuum cleaners are reliable? As the importance of living in a sustainable way becomes more and more raw, you want to make sure that a new void you buy won't break and will be sent to the pile of wreckage before its time. You can see how Shark vacuum cleaners last compared to rivals without unique survey data from vacuum owners: check out our guide to the most reliable vacuum brands and the most reliable cordless vacuum brands. Shark has spare parts for sale, available on Shark's website. This means that if a certain part of the vacuum breaks, it should be easy to replace the defective defective part to buy a whole new void and throw away the old one. Another important factor to consider when buying a cordless vacuum is the availability of replacement batteries. Lithium-ion batteries inevitably lose their ability to maintain a charge over time, so you need to be able to purchase replacements so you don't have to replace the entire vacuum when its battery dies. Shark batteries cost around £80, which is obviously quite expensive but relatively standard for this battery size.
