need to hum, flex, and inhumane lemon bread to forgive him, now moving on to the left. This room has several refrigerators and despite the suspicious nature of the skipping, it is the last one where you will get another meeting. This time you have to 'joke' a few times until you can forgive him, then you can take lock the blue and head through the door to use the green one. Retreat to the room with the bed and save, just in case. Now go through the eastern corridor. When you go through the mirror, you'll meet again. Choose, Mystify, and Pray and Reaper Bird can be saved, then proceed through the door to use the blue button. Now you can go back to the room with the door with some keys and pass through it. You'll find a room at the end with lift power control, using it to turn the power back on. On.
