The series consists of two groups. The first group consists of books 1-28, in which Morgan Le Fay sends Jack and Annie Smith, two normal children who are siblings from the fictional small town of Frog Creek, Pennsylvania, on various adventures and missions with magical tree houses. The second group, referred to as Magic Tree House Merlin Missions, began with book 29, Christmas in Camelot. In Merlin's mission, Jack and Annie are given a quest by the ancient wizard Merlin the Wizard. These books are longer than the previous 28, and some happen in fantasy realms like Camelot. Kathleen and Teddy are two students who befriend Jack and Annie during their adventure, with one of these adventures being to free Kathleen from a spell. The two occasionally join Jack and Annie, and, when they don't, provide support to them instead. During super edition #1, Teddy sends them on missions instead of Morgan or Merlin. Companion Magic Tree House Fact Trackers co-written by Mary Pope Osborne with her husband Will Osborne or sister Natalie Pope Boyce. At first, Mary Pope Osborne wrote books with Morgan sending children on missions. Then he turned to them sent on a missions these books are, again, much shorter. After graduating from college, Osborne and a friend went on a trip. [1] Osborne spent time in Crete and traveled through Iraq, Iran, India, Afghanistan, Turkey, Lebanon, Syria and Pakistan. [2] The trip ended when Osborne suffered from blood poisoning in Nepal requiring him to stay in hospital for several years where he read The Lord of the Rings. Commenting on his trip Osborne said: 'The journey has irrevocably changed me. I. collected which serves as a reference point every day of my life. I discovered the world of light and the world of darkness – and planted the seeds of imagination that led directly to me becoming a children's book author. [2] Osborne's travels and experiences have accounted for most of his own writing, while his writing has allowed him to experience some of the thrills of travelling. When he said, Even without leaving my house, I have traveled the world, learning about the religions of the world. [3] Osborne's writing career began one day, abruptly[3] when he wrote Run, Run As Fast As You Can in 1982. The book itself is semi-autobiographical in nature, according to Osborne: The girl is very similar to me and many of the incidents in the story are similar to events in my childhood. [3] The book served as a starting point for Osborne's writing career. His early work received mixed reviews. [5] His work includes young adult novels, picture books, retelments of mythology and fairy tales, biographies, mysteries, a six-part series of odysseys, an American Tall Tales book, and a book for young readers about the world's great religions. Osborne says he can work at Magic Tree House for up to 12 hours a day and seven days a week[6] and has used the space in a shared office space, The Writer's Room. [7] She has modeled her writing after Hemingway by trying to be simple and direct[6] and is known for writing clear, lively, and all-round prose in her stories and information books.
