◀ back to the List More article this K-pop boy group Big Bang will join an elite superrich club with an estimated total net worth of $40 billion ($33.2 million). In addition, the head of G-Dragon, also known as Kwon Ji-yong, has a personal net worth of 15 billion won. Big Bang (YG Entertainment)Confirming Big Bang's path to success, the Quintet concert at Staples Center was one of the top 10 concerts in the world during last year's Billboard world tour, earning a total of $2.1 billion, while drawing 13,361 fans. Meanwhile, G-Dragon's personal net worth is estimated at more than $15 billion, won by the Korea Herald Superrich Team, which is $3 billion more than the value of the US website Celebrity Net Worth. G-Dragon (YG Entertainment)Omits a hit after a hit with group and solo activities such as The Heartbreaker in 2009, One of a Kind in 2012, and Coup d'Etat, G-Dragon earned at least $10 billion in music sales and concerts in 2013. As well as G-Dragon sucking and writing lyrics for most of his songs, he earns $800 million a year in royalties. In 2013, he received $790 million, which was awarded as copyright under the Korean Music Association and currently has 160 songs registered under his name. With his musical earnings, G-Dragon has invested more than $4.3 billion in real estate -- he currently owns two apartments in Seoul. On March 14, 2013, he bought a 168.37-square-foot apartment on the upper levels of the Galleria Foret complex, located in Seoul's Seongdong-gu, for $3 billion, according to a confirmed copy of the property registry. In 2011, the Galleria Foret complex along the Seoul Forest was completed, with two buildings with a total of 230 units overlooking the Hangang River. The units were sold for $43.9 million to 3.3 square metres, the most basic property on the domestic market. G-Dragon has also bought a 168.63 square metre apartment on the upper levels of the Hangang Bamsaem Xai complex of Haeju-dong, Mapo-gu, Seoul, for 1.3 billion won. Although not listed under his name, he presented his parents with a pension -- a Korean term for condominium that was exclusively borrowed from members during the Peak Seasons, which can be worth a billion won at the time outside the peak of the lease -- located in Il-dong, Pocheon, Gyeonggi province. Pension Dolce Vita with 550 square metres is a two-control building with an area of 222.7 square meters. The pension, run by G-Dragon's parents, only accepts adult visitors to prevent his younger fans from visiting. Financial success is not limited to G-Dragon, as the net worth of other Big Bang members is more than $25 billion, with individual wealth drastically different from its standalone activities of films and albums. Taeyang, real name Dong Young-bae, and real name Lee Lee they have a net worth of $12 billion and $3.6 billion, respectively, according to Celebrity Net Worth.Opening its first vocal and dance academy Joy Dance -- Plug In Music Academy in its native Gwangju, South Jeolla Province, in 2011.
