Magic e words 1st grade

Presto, Change-o, Silent E! Presto, Change-o, Silent E! Silent E mastering will help your students build reading chops. This worksheet encourages students by helping them visualize how adding an E can change a short vowel word to a long voice word.1. If your kids are learning about magic e, you will love this game and bonus work paper! As children race to find their magic treasure, they practice reading ordinary CVC words and their magic pairs – words with a silent letter e that allows the vowel to say its name. The games are a fun addition to our super popular Magic E Activity Pack! This post contains links linked to Amazon. Teaching Magic E, I love getting kids into the magic e concept with You Tube songs. The Magic e Song is useful for teaching kids how e grows long with short sounds. Silent e song provides a great visual of how magic works so much. From now on it's time for activities! We use a magic E wand to change words like can can play bingo tour practically reading canes and reading them. To prepare magic E Treasure Hunt Game, I laminated for gameboard printing and easy re-use on cardstock to make it extra durable. This is a two-player game so all the kids were a necessary game board, counters (good job of beans or coins) and a mold. The magic e game contains CVC words that turn into new words when added to the magic. We played two way. The first way was for children to roll the safe, move their stalls and use a play recording to write down the words they fell on. To play the other way, the children said the word that landed on it and whether there was a short or long voice. For example, when a child lands on the word rat, he read that word and then excitedly announced it, it does not say its name because it has a short voice! After playing the Magic E Worksheets Class game, kids had to go a way of writing magic e words using a batch of child-friendly work papers. They are focused by looking at the picture and applying the magic e rule by writing missing long audio a-e, i-e, o-e or u-e. Grab Your Copy Ready to Play?!
