Keep the goal in front of you, which throws huge damage to strike your scythes to burst the shadows in the PVE. Serious strike is increasingly active when chained with spiral barrage (after 3, 4, or 5 hits), double shear, pendulum strike, Whipsaw, Death Spiral, Smite, or Shadow Lash.Cooldown - important PVE GlyphsEnergetic - 30% chance to destroy CDs for multiple uses. For those who have rotation Adds to use the list Animation

Lock. Bursting a shadow or being trapped in pretty strike's animation lock is a DPS loss. Cancelling these two animations will also give you more fluid rotation. Try to avoid getting locked in a skill animation before starting to whip shadows. This is relatively high down-time on your DPS. Sometimes it will happen. Shouldn't I use Death Spiral for Powerlink Grimstrike? As stated above, it is much more important that Death Spiral is used for combos to serve for re-initiation and cancel animations. The only time I suggest deliberately using the death spiral for power links is when your shadow burst on the CD. The reason I didn't touch on massive Powerlinks (mainly spiral and shear Powerlinks for Grimstrike) is because powerlinks are naturally integrated within rotating. Because of the way skills are chained, you're always going to be powerlink active for Grimstrike. The powerlink period is also quite long. There are more important things to worry about like situation and skill management, and that's what I tried to emphasize in this guide. You're not going to exclude another reaper by dragging more double powerlinks on Grimstrike. You're going to exclude another reaper by acquiring more skills based on how you look at your skills. Although slightly dated out, I also suggest checking out Kyang's (aka Greenstrike/Kiiofuji of Mt) for your previous broadcast on Twitch for YouTube channel or more valuable visual aids.
