Folding head can make it hard to clean areas such as ceiling vents and cupboard tops. I live in a small townhouse and in setting up, lightweight portable as it would be a great tool to have. At less than 5 pounds, this vacuum is light enough to carry around, but has enough suction to clean decently. It also comes with a new lithium-ion battery, which means it will last longer and keep the charge better. Another key improvement is this one has a rubber flap that keeps the dirt from falling back out of the bin - another problem that the old twist had. So, thanks to Black and Decker for listening to your customers. A quick look at the features of the Powered 20-volt lithium-ion batteryFoldable nozzle allows you to clear the area above the head of the 35 air watts, which is stronger than the Dyson DC44/DC59, which produces 28 air watts in a normal mode3 filtration stage systemWashable filter - saves on the operational costsremovable dirty camera washesCyclonic filtrationTransparent dirt bin easily lets you know if the bin fullProsBetter suction, Than Dyson DC59 in the usual modeSmall trail- requires less storage spaceLy Ion battery is not prone to discharge compared to NiCad batteriesMinmal power disappear throughout the cycle chargeLong 2 year warrantyEsy for empty Does have no attachments, so there is no risk of any risk Inappropriate anythingConsCan't clean the hair toolNot floor clean - you'll need a vacuum stick in addition to thisSmall-building dirt binWhat to expect from Black and Decker BDH2000PL? The biggest improvement that Black and Decker has made with this model is the lithium-ion battery. NiCad batteries suffer from what you call memory loss. This means that if you don't you have it for a few days, it should be replenished, which opens up a completely different question. You need almost half a day to fully charge. The lithium-ion battery eliminates this problem. It only takes a few hours to recharge. Just leave it at the charging station and whenever you need to use it, pick it up clean and then put it back. There's almost zero risk of overcharging because of the smart charging system. In addition, there is consistent power throughout the old NiCad, which disappears slowly. Apps and accessories to doesn't have any attachments whatsoever. All the tools are built into the device. It comes with a charging base that the previous model did not. Charging time I couldn't find any documentation on how long you need to charge this. But one consumer said you would need to charge it 24 hours when using it for the first time. Subsequent fees will require Two o'clock. It has an LED light that will stop blinking when the battery is fully charged. Filter cleaningconsumers were happy about how easy it was to clean it up. A big reason is the dirt cup is removable and washes, making cleaning that much easier. Run Run Not many reviews about time run based on reviews, but based on a few I've collected you'll get about 15 minutes on full charge, but remember that since it uses a lithium-ion battery is almost empty. The Guaranteelt comes with a 2-year warranty on vacuum and battery. See it in Amazon's ActionAn Review showing the differences between the old Pivot and the BDH2000PL... Here's a video that talks about features and a brief demonstration of how this lightweight portable cleans... Naked floor performanceTake note that this vacuum is best used as a stain cleaning tool on small isolated areas. You can't use this to clean the entire kitchen or dining room floor. The pull out brush tool will extend the coverage by a few inches, but you still have to bend over to clear the spots areas. The performance of the carpet This has only enough energy to clean the dirt surface on the carpet. Don't expect it to be a deep clean carpet or padding because it lacks a motorized brush. The 35 air watts of energy it has on tap is actually 7 more than the 28 air watts that the Dyson DC59 has in normal mode. For a hand vacuum, it's an exceptional force. Removing pet hairIt will be able to remove the hair of pets on hard floors, but on the carpet all bets are off. It does not have a pet hair tool that can agitate and loosen pet hair tool that can agitate and loosen pet hair tool that can agitate and loosen pet hair on ups ups and downs, so it will rely solely on suction. You can try to use a pull out brush tool for agitation, but it won't be as effective as a motorized brush or pet hair tool. Also, since the nozzle is narrow, cleaning a lot of pet hair on the carpet though, so if you have a lot of pets at home consider something like BDH2000FL instead. Many people who bought this vacuum also used the rod and was Performance. They said the suction force doubled and the absorption corresponded to minimal fading. Some consumers used this inside their cars and were pleased with the results. Black and Decker seemed to listen to all the negative feedback that Pivot and improved on those with this model. In addition to the battery they have also improved on In these features: a flap inside the nozzle that prevented the debris from falling back out A charging base, allowing you to store this vacuum upright, thus minimizing the storage of the foot printA removable dirt cup makes it easier to clean and empty Kudos in black and Decker to implement this and it costs less than $80, add to that 2 year warranty, you have a deal. Update (July 31, 2014) This time about 100 people have left a review only on Amazon, and it seems that Black and Decker have a winner in this product. The compact design, combined with suction power and lithium batteries, is popular with consumers. The folding nozzle though gimmicky for some proved functional at cleaning areas high above your head. The 20-volt lithium battery is not prone to fading, as older NiCad batteries are charged in just 2 hours. This would be a good vacuum to use on cars due to the compact nozzle design and the presence of a brush tool. Some consumers have noted that working time is more than enough to clean the entire car. Where can I buy this? You can buy this from Amazon for less than $60 and it will be eligible for their free 2-day shipping if you join Prime. Extended warranty is also available for up to 3 years if you want extra peace of mind. Concluding It would be great for apartment owners or townhouses who need a vacuum that can clean areas of the wired vacuum will struggle with. areas such as air vents, ceilings and cabinets. Black and Decker really listened to their customers when designing this vacuum and made several key improvements that plugged the flaws of the previous model. With the new lithium battery, this new vacuum will support its suction throughout the charge cycle and have minimal extinction. A large portable vacuum for small and medium-sized homes to clean the mess spot. If you have a lot of pets though, I won't be able to recommend it to you because it doesn't have animal hair attachments that would make the process effective. It will still be able to suck the hair of pets, but too much of it will fill the bin quickly. Also, you won't be able to use this to remove pet hair on a medium waving carpet. This vacuum is best suited to supplement the vacuum stick. Vacuum.
