It is a telenovela adaptation of the Spanish sitcom Ana y los siete. The show aired from June 30, 2014 to March 1, 2015 and consists of 177 episodes. The main stars are Sylvia Navarro and Jorge Salina. Synopsis Fernando Lascuirain is a wealthy businessman and recently widower, trying to raise his seven unruly children. He's asking for the help of a new nanny. She hires and falls in love with Ana Leal, an exotic dancer struggling exotic who tries to hide her double life. Although Ana lacks experience and refined education, she quickly ties in with Lascuirain's children. Ana dreams of being a mother, but when her house is destroyed after an accident, she has to borrow money from her ruthless boss in Chicago, the nightclub where she is secretly employed. When Fernando falls in love with Ana and Isabela, an economist and sophisticated woman trained by her mother to marry a millionaire, she must choose between the two women. Trivia Telenovela is an adaptation of the original Spanish TV series, Ana y los 7. Based on the original screenplay by Ana Oregón, who wrote and starred in the original series, the remake was adapted by writers Alejandro Pohlenz, Marcia del Río and Pablo Ferrer. Juan Osorio is an executive producer. Working title for telenovela was simply 'Mi corazón'. Telenovela production officially began on April 21, 2014, at a shopping mall in Metepec, Mexico, outside Mexico City. Although the majority of filming takes place in soundstages at Televisa San Ángel in Mexico City, additional scenes were also filmed throughout the state of Mexico, where its governor, Eruviel Ávila Villegas, met with the cast during a day of filming. Some of the cast filmed scenes in Puerto Vallarta and a resort on the Nayarit Riviera in late January 2015. Filming ended in late February 2015. A free concert, serving as the final episode of telenovela, was filmed at the La Bombonera stadium in Toluca, Mexico on February 21, 2015. The concert featured performances by Banda El Recodo, Daniela Romo, Axel, Kaay, Paulina Goto, Pablo Montero and other special guests. The telenovela finale aired on March 27, 2015 in Mexico and March 27, 2015 in the U.S. After the last episode aired on TELEVISION, three alternative endings were available to stream on telenovela's official website, MiCorazonesTuyo.com. To promote telenovela, a special outreach party, which the presentation of the cast, crew, and a trailer of the new scenes, was held for the media on June 24, 2014, in Televisa San Ángel. The event was also broadcast exclusively online to fans on Telenovela Televisa's official website telenovela. On February 6, 2015, producers revealed that a stage version of telenovela had been commissioned because of its popularity in Mexico. The cast rehearsed for the project while simultaneously filming final episodes for telenovela. The play, based on a family-friendly version of the show, included all members of the Lascuráin family and special musical performances by the cast. Productions took place all over Mexico. The play debuted on March 6, 2015 in Pebla, Mexico. Additional performances were later scheduled for venues in Guadalajara, Monterá, Tampico, Leon, Mexico City and other Mexican cities during March and April 2015. After its premiere on June 30, 2014, the program gained 22.8 in ratings for its 8 p.m. time slots. It was telenovela's second highest rating of the evening at Las Estrellas, after telenovela 'Lo que la vida me robó'. At the TVYNovelas Awards 2015, Mi corazón es tuyo won the award for Best Telenovela of the Year, Paulina Goto won in the category of Best Young Actress and Axel & Kaay won in the category of Best Main Theme Song. Actors Jorge Salinas, Mayrín Villanueva, René Casados and Juan Pablo Gil were all nominated in their respective categories, but did not win. Ninel Conde and Blanca Soto were considered for the role of Ana Leal. Juan Osorio wanted for the role of Marlene Favela, however, Favela had already committed to a role in Telemundo's telenovela El señor de los cielos. Iván Sánchez and Aath de la Torre were considered for the role of protagonist Fernando Lascuráin.
