Released in July 1997, it was Smash Mouth's first lead single, reaching No. 1 on the U.S. Billboard Modern Rock Track chart and No. 2 on the Billboard Hot 100 Airplay chart. It was also an overseas success, peaking at No. 3 in Canada and Iceland, No. 5 in Italy and Spain, and No. 7 in Australia, where it was passed Platinum for delivery exceeding 70,000. Smash's Background Mouth guitar Greg Camp said of Walkin' on the Sun: "It was written during the whole Rodney King thing. This song is basically a cry of social and social battle. It's some kind of song shouldn't we all hang out? make that time when I write it. It's just about all the things that happened around me as a young person. And I was, like, God, what's going on? I don't understand why this is the case. It's like we might as well walk around the planet on fire. And that's how it happened. [4] Paul De Lisle stated the original version of Walkin' on the Sun was more than a rap song. [5] The group decided to record the song after the band's drummer Kevin Coleman met him on one of Kem's ribbons. It is the last song to be added to Fush Yu Mang. [5] Critical reception music &:amp;: The media described it as a punchy track and very contagious. They added that it must be fun punk and ska—and that's an offering he manages while avoiding stereotypic sounding whether it's a genre. [6] NME wrote, "Walkin' On The Sun" is a classic, continuing to break out of the secret world of Austin Powers. Although it was written after King Rodney's death, it dead organ gruffs for The Zombies' 'He Doesn't Exist' and growing staccato vocals make it the perfect sound for circa 1967's Carnaby Street strut down. [7] Ian Hyland of Ahad Mirror gave the song 9 out of 10. He commented, "It is an American guitar music that jingly jangly and Radio One plays it to death. It's going to be massive, then they're gone. [8] The music video for the song begins with each band member, one by one, walking down a dark alleyway. Later, the band made an offering in the room while Harwell's scene of refusing remote control made two girls appear in the room. Afterwards, the group made an offering on the beach while the beach danced around them. Their, then changed to the band who made an offering in front of two of the same girls in an area full of bright lights flickering. We then saw a drag race on the road where the yellow hot rod race against the oren hot rod where the band was located. However, in the middle of the race, oren's hot rods were knocked out, and race attendees and female race judges rushed to the scene. This kugiran still makes offerings while lying on the ground despite the bad luck. The video ends with them leaning close to the camera. List of Digital Download No.TitleWriter(s) LongLuar tracks1.
