Example of a note: Say, explain, describe, and talk are usually used and will require the Boy Scouts to perform these actions during class. When these action verbs are part of any requirement, scouts are expected to be willing to share. Reading the answer is not acceptable because it does not meet the requirement to demonstrate the knowledge and understanding of the Boy Scouts. Write a letter on a national issue and send it to one of these elected officials, sharing your opinion with him or her. Show your letter and any response you get to your counselor. Comments: October 12, 2013 - Katherine G. LeonardI is a merit badge (and ASM) consultant. It is my opinion that worksheets were easier to use when printing lines, instead of open boxes. Unless scouts type directly into shape, the lines are better. Thank you for considering my contribution. August 16, 2014 - Mary Can #8 in the form of an email? May 26, 2015 - Terry EckbergAre locations for request 2a and 2d of the same and the main difference is 2a is physical visit and 2d is more of a research effort? May 26, 2015 - Scouter Paul@Terry - Requests apply to two different places. National monuments and historical sites are different things. There are about 114 national monuments, but more like 90,000 historical sites. So any scout should be able to visit some historic site not too far, but the nearest national monument could be quite far away. June 29, 2015 - RobertCan #8 be in email form or do you actually have to write a letter? July 02, 2015 - Scouter Paul@Robert - The request states a letter, not an email. But a merit badge consultant can interpret that as including email. March 08, 2016 - Keith BI have purchased a detailed documentary Denver Mint and seconds of the U.S. Capitol building to meet the requirement #2 teaching at a Merit Badge class event. During these videos, I use this time to review scout worksheets and separately invite them aside to review different requirements with them. June 06, 2016 - Jeff MAll National Park Units designated national historic site, National Historic Park, National Memorial, National Battlefield, National Cemetery and most national monuments are already part of the National Historic Sites or National Register of Historic Sites. They must be on either of the two lists before they can become park units. National monuments that are natural (not man-made) are an exception. August 21, 2016 - Jeff MAs as far as requests for #8 ... My son wrote a letter on his computer and sent a PDF copy to our representative. In the body of the e-mail, he explained that it was because of the merit badge. As each representative receives hundreds of emails and letters, explaining that correspondence for citizenship in the nation merit the badge have expedited the formal response. The office of any representative is always more willing to help the Boy Scouts in any way they can. November 21, 2019 - Maskinne2Oba we are looking to meet the requirement of a 2C .Tour federal facility. What are some options (other than mint) to meet this requirement? November 21, 2019 - Scouter Paul@Maskinne2 - federal buildings, federal courts, post offices, military bases, federal prisonsDec 10, 2019 - Peg My son was asked five times to edit his 1.5-page essay. This is ™ about his views on gun control and although he has a counterclitta saying he recognises that the Second Amendment would be difficult to change, he cites good sources who substantiate his views on stricter controls. His gun-owning and anti-gun control consultant wants him to include his views. I think the ™ inappropriate and more than what the request requires. What's your opinion? Thank you,PegDec 10, 2019 - Peg Oh, by the way, some of the attitudes he wants my son to include are that hunters like to use AR15s and that there should be stiffer penalties for gun crimes, among several others. My son started researching these points and saw some disturbing things... also, these are not his views. Dec 10, 2019 - Scouter Paul@Peg - I'm not sure why your scout writes a 1.5-page essay for any request in this merit badge. Is that for #4e? Regardless, from your description, it's my opinion that a counselor pushes his views instead of doing his job as a merit badge counselor. There is always another side to situations like this, but the demands ask the Boy Scouts to state their views, not parrot the views of their adviser. December 10, 2019 - Peg Thank you, Paul. Sorry, it's for Condition 8 - a letter to the senator giving ™ on the subject of national He began by writing several passages on the need for stricter gun controls. The adviser felt his stance would be strengthened by mentioning counterclibals, but those he wanted to include (such as the ones I mentioned) took him to strange websites with some gruesome details. After five revisions, he then claimed he ™ wrote it and wanted it to start over with another theme. It was funny. I think he's just ™ his position on gun control. My son ended this request with another counselor, but the whole experience certainly soothed his enthusiasm for scouts. December 10, 2019 - Peg Is there any way to appeal to a consultant other than a form on the site ™ Scouts? Nobody seems to be reacting to that. That person, in my opinion, has nothing to be your counselor. I want to make sure no other child has to experience this kind of thing in the future. December 10, 2019 - Scouter Paul@Peg - Your Council (and possibly the District) has a Progress Committee headed by the President's Volunteer for Advancement. Their role is to manage the merit badge program in your local area, including approving merit badge consultants. See The Progress Guide. Jan 21, 2020 - Dave StallardAs advisor for this merit badge, I accept a submission to the senator/representative website (™ written as a formal business letter) for Req 8. Embrace the technology. Jan 30, 2020 - Pamela HanshawI have a question. Does being able to debate the impact of amendments mean scouts must remember the 27th Amendment and be able to debate what life would be like without being washed away? Can I use notes or worksheet to refer to this discussion? How would your life be different today without ____th amendments? Jan 30, 2020 - Scouter Paul@Pamela - Your question gives me the impression that a consultant is asking the Boy Scouts to do more than you see fit - I may be misreading it. The #4 says that every document is discussed, not every item within each document. Scout should be familiar enough with each document to discuss its effect on the country. If the counselor requires the Boy Scouts to remember all the amendments, I'll find another counsel and tell the District or the president of the Progress Council about my concerns. May 11, 2020 - May 17, 2020 - Jane@Andrea Luken - BSA has updated its FREQUENTLY POSTED COVID-19 page at the following link:www.scouting.org/coronavirus/covid-19-faq/In the FAQs, BSA says: Some progression activities can be completed by videoconferencing, but not all. For example, virtual visits to a city council meeting, national historical sites, museums and art galleries may be but swimming, firing a rifle and merit badges for motorboats cannot be completed virtually. The word may mean that at the discretion of the merit badge advisor if the consultant thinks a virtual visit would satisfy the intent of the request or not. Only my opinion, but I think in most cases the Scout will have a better experience if they wait until they are able to visit the National Historical Landmark or the National Register of Historical Places in person (many can be visited outdoors). On the other hand, if a scout is close to aging from the program, then maybe that's not an option for a Boy Scout.
