Picture: Big Talk Productions/Channel 4 To have someone's black books means they are on bad terms with them. Black Books was a series that was largely about being in someone's black book. Sometimes it meant that the protagonists tried to bring themselves in to someone, and sometimes someone in the main trio tried to fix the relationship between the other two after they dropped out. The program was mostly about people who see their mistakes but don't want or can't fix them. The quirks of the main characters complement each other, and the comic byplay is rooted in both pun and physical comedy. Bernard Black often expresses himself through insatiable, vitriolic, rhythmic dialogue. Manny's emotions visually express his posture and physical reactions, especially in Bernard's outbursts. Fran's a little bit of both. Into this rotating maw of demands, vices, and opinions, he enters a number of guest characters played by comedic actors who can be seen in some of the best television series and feature films today. Black Books is a time capsule for the genesis of comedy that has come to dominate the past two decades and has given rise to the entertainment landscape we enjoy now. Test your knowledge and see how it measures your memory. Olivia Coleman appears in Season 3, Episode 2, Elephants and Hens as Tanya, one of Fran's friends, in the hen night she attends. He's upbeat and optimistic, he has no idea what the night has in store for them. Later, Tanya accused Fran of being jealous of all her friends. Copyright © 2020 InfoSpace Holdings, LLC, the System1 Company In the modern era of iPhone, Instagram, and information oversharing, the concept of a small black book seems a bit archaic. After all, who has time to sniw down their secrets when there are new filters to download and witty tweets to think about? However, we believe that every woman should have an arsenal of beauty things – a little black beauty book, so to speak. To save time, we've collected 20 of the best tricks we've had from hollywood's best makeup artists and hairdressers. (These are the people who make Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen's perfectly undone strands, and Jessica Alba for her contoured cheekbones and sultry smoky eyes.) Feel free to continue blogging, tweeting, and Instagramming with renewed vitality after mastering these beauty tricks. Keep festing the industry's best beauty secrets! 1. Remove self-tanner before spraying again, according to airbrush tanning expert Jenni Blafer (who gives Julianne Hough her bronzed glow), then remove the remaining self-tanning before the next spray tanning appointment. If you use a usual spray tanner or use cream with a self-tanning in it, make sure you've gotten it all off before you get your next airbrush, he says. Fake Bake's exfoliating wipes ($31) are awesome- they're great for removing the last little spray tan before you spray again! For more tips on perfect faux tan, click here. 2. Get rid of everything before color change thinking about a big color change? Make sure you go according to plan, cleaning your hair with all the leftovers. Everything needs to be removed to avoid a chemical reaction [to hair dye], says hairdresser Michael Canale. He recommends Max Detox shampoo ($40) because it actually goes into the hair shaft and takes out the chemical elements. According to makeup artist Kate Lee, you can actually get great results brushing your forehead hairs off. This shows you the maximum shape of your eyebrows, such as how much you can draw on top, says makeup artist Kate Lee. You can slam the height of your arch by feathering a few pencil strips very carefully in the direction of hair growth. You will feel very foreign, but fill the arch, then brush them up, then fill in the gaps that you see and extend the ends. Click here for more shady eyebrow tricks! 4. Why you should [Mousse] gives the hair body, light hold, and shine, hairdresser Mark Townsend says (she counts the well-tressed Olsen twins and Jennifer Lawrence as clients). If you have curly hair, the curls dry in the air softer and more defined. If you have straight hair, you get more texture and volume – both win in our book. Curious? We have more reason to think about mousse. Pictured: Sachajuan Hair Mousse ($33) 5. Start with a nail bed After you get a smooth shape, clean your nails with a brush or old toothbrush and warm soapy water, celebrity manicures Jenna Hipp says. Wipe your nails dry with a soft cotton towel, gently push the cuticles back with the towel on each fingertip. He recommends finishing nutritious cuticle oil like One Love Organics Super Critical Chia Oil ($50). There's also trick how to master a home manicure this way. 6. Eat your way to clearer skin if you don't have enough vitamin A in your system, your sebaceous glands can produce excess lipids, causing acne, Dr. Susan Stuart says. Get a healthy dose of vitamin A by selecting orange fruits and vegetables: beta-carotene that gives sweet potatoes, pumpkins, carrots, and cantaloupe the hue that is converted into a vitamin for your body. Learn more about eating your way to better skin! 7. Layer Your Skincare for the Better You're Not Sure If You're Applying Your Skin Products in The Right Order? Celebrity aestheticist Renee Rouleau recommends keeping in mind: As a rule, it goes from thinnest to thickest, she says. [Toner] goes like water and you want to let it get wet, whatever you put in the seals for every hydration and every other active ingredient. Then use a serum, then a moisturizer. For more tips on layering skin products, click here. 8. The Blunt Ends That Don't Puff Out Hair guru Andy Lecompte suggests this tip to anyone who wants a haircut with blunt ends: ask your stylist to razor the end of the inner sections to help them lay flat. Just a little bit, he says. It gives hair more shape and helps to avoid that terrible triangle look when the ends are too full. Want more blunt cutting tips? Helping! 9. Picking the Perfect Drugstore Eyebrow Pencil The biggest mistake I see is people with a color that's too hot for them, Katy Perry makeup artist Jake Bailey says eyebrow pencils. Choose a color that's lighter than your eyebrows and a little better than your hair. Eyebrow products, especially powders, melt into the skin, causing the color to heat up. For more on his tips on buying the pharmacy aisles for eyebrow products, click here. Pictured: Nyx Cosmetics Eyebrow Cake Powder ($6) 10. Keep Your Vanity Organized by Lili Pettit, who organizes the vanity of celebrities like Jessica Alba, says she stores her lipsticks upside down so you can see the as soon as you open the drawer. He stores his ice cream like a Lucite tray. If you want to keep your vanity clutter-free, these tips are for you. 11. Keep two concealers on hand makeup artist Mai Qunyh says most women should own two types of concealers: one under your eyes and one with full coverage. He recommends choosing a brush or pen for the area under the eyes — these are lighter and often have brightening benefits. Have you decided it's time to (finally) master the art of concealer? Our complete guide will show you the ropes. Pictured: Eve Lom Light Illusion Concealer ($40) 12. Go Matte Do you have a penchant for matte lipstick? Make-up artist Sage Maitri says any lipstick can be turned away if you sn over your lips with translucent powder. Her go-to is laura mercier loose setting powder ($39). Click here for our step-by-step guide to applying red lipstick as a pro. 13. Try Dark Brown Mascara We asked Cara Delevingne's eyebrow guru, Wendy Rowe, for her tips on the less eyebrow-endowed. If you're not blessed with eyebrows like Cara, but you want a similar look, you have to work with what we have, says Rowe. If you don't have dark eyebrow hair, knife them through with dark brown mascara to create a darker feel. Click here to read more of the Rowe eyebrow tips. 14. Touch your eyes Awake Celebrity Aesthetics Joanna Czech has a secret method of waking up tired eyes: tapping. Once the skin is cleansed, gently touch and massage your eyes, starting with a circle in the outer corners, tracking the lower eyelash line, along the forehead bone, and back into the outer corner, he says. Use your middle or ring finger and apply the same amount of pressure as you would use to apply the concealer. Repeat several times. This will help to loosen up the fluid that is trapped under your eyes. I have more advice for those who want to watch awake (but not) here! 15. Highlighter application Not sure where to apply highlighter? Makeup artist Jenn Streicher says she can't go wrong with this method: Use highlighter to bone around the eye pit, in the C-shape, she says. Most people don't like to look bright, and it probably will be if you put a [cream highlighter] on your forehead or nose. Click here for our detailed guide to applying the highlighter. 16. If in doubt, choose bronze makeup artist Stephen Sollitto says the best eye shadow colors are blue eyes gray, navy, and bronze. In fact, bronze is universally flattering for all skin tones and eye colors. If the bronze instead of brown lining, which is just kind of sitting there, the whole face looks more interesting, Sollitto says. Pictured: Chantecaille waterproof eyeliner ($26) for nutmeg Channel The Inner English Rose For Those Who Tend to Be Prone makeup artist Charlotte Tilbury says to hit the cream blush. If you don't have time for lipstick, try a bruised rose-colored cream to blush your lips, then blend high on top of the apple on the face to give the fresh English rose look, she says. Are you late all the time? We have some tricks for you. 18. Keep your scalp happy If you have a colorful appointment booked in the next few days, keep this tip in mind: colorist Anival Morales says to leave shampooing two days before the meeting. This will help prevent possible irritation to the scalp, he says. For more on her tips on how to care for colorful hair, click here. 19. Prep Your Lips The resident makeup expert Lauren Andersen shared this tip when explaining how to prepare your lips for bold color. I condition [my clients'] lips and then prepare their skin, she says. This allows the conditioner to be absorbed into their lips. After completing the rest of the makeup, she wipes off the excess lip moisturizer and starts filling them. For our step-by-step guide to mastering a bold lip, click here. Pictured: Tatcha's Camellia Hydrating Lip Balm ($30) 20. Eat Your Way to Longer Hair Resident hair expert Jen Atkin shared the name of her go-to hair accessories with longer, stronger strands. Viviscal ($50), Bio-Sil ($34) and fish oil help nurture and stimulate new hair growth from the inside out, he says. Click here for the four other hair products she says every woman should have in her arsenal! Congrats! You finished our little black book. Have you tried these tips and tricks? Do you have your own?
