How to fix beached seamoth

Home &gt; How to &gt; repair &gt; seamoth I accidentally grounded my Seamoth on a sandy beach and was able to get it to move out. But I got it grounded at Aurora, and it was impossible to get it out. Since I'm still pretty new to the game, it meant the loss of my primary transport, putting be back to Seaglide. I scanned the net and forums for ideas on how to get it out and not much was found. One idea I saw was to get the Propulsion Cannon and try to knock it back a few feet. BUT - only to have a Seaglide, and having to first get a blue print for it, so assembling all the materials was a super fun-killer! It should not be possible to ground either Seamoth or Cyclops - unless there is a tool in the game to release it. What I ended up doing was cloning another Seamoth (ARRGH! - Now 2 flashing icons), to get all the necessary parts to build a Propulsion Cannon. Once I had it I went back to Aurora to try it. Obviously Cannon didn't work in Seamoth, so I was left with picking up and throwing boxes at it until it blew up! Since it wasn't my fault that I lost Seamoth like that, I continued with the cloned Seamoth. It seems to be an easy solution to simply prohibit subs from getting to a depth coordinate where they could no longer move. Subnautica &gt; General Gameplay Discussion &gt; Topic Details Beached my seamoth, need help asap! What should I do? I moved a little too close to the ramp leading to the aurora my seamoth is stuck. I can't make it budge off the ramp. I've tried using repulsive gun stuff and that doesn't move it an inch. Once inside none of the controls do anything. There doesn't seem to be any way to move the damn thing... Note: This is only to be used to report spam, advertising and problematic (harassment, matches or rude) posts. ALL POSTSSeamoth ProblemsSo I was visiting Aurora, and when I leave, I realize that I stranded my Seamoth. I tried to push it and I tried to use the propulsion cannon, but it didn't even work. Is there a debugging command that will remove the sea moon? (edited by Xenodrone98)0UPDATE! I managed to get it wrong, but here's the thing: I had to spawn another Seamoth and ram into the other to destroy it. I think it worked. (edited by Maxfield, Garryfish with PTSD)0Yay! Well done! Or is it? It is no longer stranded, mission is complete. (edited by Starserpent) 0The Devs really should solve the beaching problem... I remember the propulsive cannon that worked on Seamoth. I do not know why it it Nwo. (edited by Maxfield, Garryfish with PTSD) So that means that unless I make one to my Seamoth will be permanently stranded on Aurora. (edited by a Fandom user) (edited by Xenodrone98)0Why would you beach your Seamoth? Isn't that bad enough Maxfield did it? (edited by Starserpent) On my Aurora visit, I accidentally ran up the damaged decking and my seamoth is stuck. The propulsion cannon won't move it. I'm willing to comfort the spawn of a new seamoth in this, my first playthrating, but is there any way to destroy the existing one? A?
